Offensive on the Piave Front Turned Into Italian Triumph and Austrian Disaster of Great Magnitude

MORE LOWELL MEN SENT TO CAMP DEVENS THIS MORNING

Local Exemption Boards Forward 41 Men Who Entrained at 6.15 This Morning—Went Informally to Station

Lowell's four exemption boards sent 41 men to Camp Devens this morning as part of their June contribution to the national service. The men entrained at 6.55 and this is the earliest hour for entrainment that any national army men have yet been called upon to meet in going from this city. There was a fair-sized crowd at the depot, but nothing in comparison with the numbers one was accustomed

FLOODED PIAVE RIVER CONTAINS MANY OF ENEMY CORPSES

Italians Capture 45,000 Prisoners and an Enormous Store of War Material—American Airmen Very Brave

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Capture of 45,000 prisoners and enormous stores of war material by the Italians in their counter offensive which has driven the Austrians across the Piave, is announced in an official cablegram received today by the Italian embassy from Rome.

"Offensive operations by our troops began Sunday," says the despatch. "After violent artillery preparations that destroyed all bridges except one, the infantry drove forward with irresistible impetus. The flooded Piave contains thousands of enemy corpses.

FOOTWEAR

American footwear is admittedly the best in the world, and the American manufacturers have long led all foreign competitors in the production of attractive, durable and comfortable shoes.

Our showing of footwear includes shoes made from many kinds of fabrics, as well as leathers. The various fabric shoes are exceedingly popular not only for their own intrinsic worth, but also because their extensive use serves the patriotic purpose of releasing leather for military purposes.

It will be advantageous for you to call and see our footwear before making purchases for graduation.

UNITED STATES SENATE MAY VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

Senator Hollis Leader of the Movement—Suffragists Heckle Senators—Lodge and Weeks Strongly Opposed

Special to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Thursday will probably see the vote on suffrage taken in the senate, although Senator Hollis, at present the suffrage leader, took care to leave a loophole when asking that it be brought up that day for consideration. In reply to queries by other senators Mr. Hollis said he hoped for a vote unless business already before the senate demanded immediate attention at that time, but distinctly stated that he was not asking that a vote should be taken on Thursday. Remembering how the suffragists have been playing fast and loose with the Anthony amendment as regards taking a vote, the matter is by no means certain to come to the front although a vote is expected. Suffragists who seem to put winning the vote before all the great war questions of the day, are lobbying with increased vigor and openly boast that the president will come to their rescue and gain for them the two votes which they acknowledge are lacking for success today. Color is given their assertions by the fact that the president has already given the movement a big push by the announcement that he desires the senate to pass the amendment this session. Whether this combined action of the president and the militant

LOWELL'S WAR SAVINGS STAMP CAMPAIGN

The final week of Lowell's war savings stamp campaign began today with both the men and women's committees renewing their efforts for one final concerted attempt to put the city over the top.

The organization of workers which gained such excellent results in the recent Red Cross campaign is to be brought into play for the final few days of the present drive and it is expected that this organization together with the committees already in the game will be able to procure the necessary number of pledges to make the city's total 29,000 before the end of the week.

Members of the women's committee made informal reports to their chairman, Mrs. James H. Carmichael, yesterday and on the whole they were encouraging. Some of the workers report that it is a very simple matter to have people buy stamps and pay cash outright, but when it comes to signing a pledge there is usually some balking. The purpose of the present campaign, however, is to procure pledges and the amount of money invested is only a secondary matter.

Through James F. Owens, chairman of the men's committee, plans are being formulated for an outdoor demonstration in the interest of the drive some evening this week. No definite details have been perfected yet.

J. Joseph Hennessy spoke at the Owl and Keith's theatre Saturday evening and Henry A. Smith at the Strand and Merrimack Square. It was the second appearance of both speakers.

MORE MEN FOR THE ARMY AND NAVY

Three Marlboro men furnished the basis of activities at the local navy recruiting station today. Edmund J. Langlois, Rosario Lovell and Uris Demomcourt, all of Marlboro, were forwarded to Boston for examination. Lovell was enlisted as a seaman, second class, for the naval reserve and the other two as landsmen for machineist's mate aviation section.

On the army side of the blotter the American and Canadian forces received one recruit apiece. Sergt. Cox at the regular army station forwarded Martin Fortlage of 163 Lawrence street for the cavalry while the Canadian expeditionary force headquarters sent to Boston Louis Gallant of 258 Merrimack street.

The 60th engineers at Camp Forrest, Ga., and the 21st railway engineers at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., are in need of men. Mechanics who desire to enter either of these units should get in touch with the chief engineers at Washington and ask for a letter of qualification. The U. S. Guards and the tank service are still open.

Walter Weed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Weed of this city, has arrived safely in France as a member of the artillery forces of the regular army.

BOY DROWNED TODAY IN MERRIMACK CANAL

While attempting to recover his "peggy" from the water in the Merrimack canal near the plant of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., Charles Wauman, aged 13 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wauman of 70 Prince street, fell into the water and drowned before assistance reached him.

The boy was playing peggy on the site for the proposed high school in Anne street at about 9.30 o'clock. The peggy rolled into the water near the little canal bridge and Charles walked on the cross beam near the bridge in an attempt to recover the piece of wood. One of the officers of the corporation ordered the little fellow away from the beam, but Charles paid no attention to the order and when he stooped to pick up the peggy he fell in the water. The officer rushed to the boy's assistance, but before he reached the canal bank, the lad had disappeared and did not come to the surface again.

CIRCUS DEATH LIST 85

HAMMOND, Ind., June 24.—Two investigations have been ordered of the wreck last Saturday on the Michigan Central railroad near Gary, Ind., in which 55 employees of the Hagenback-Wallace circus were killed and approximately 150 injured.

Alonso Sargent, engineer of the empty troop train, which crashed into the rear end of the circus train, and his fireman, Gustave Klaus, are expected to testify at the inquest.

Sixty-two bodies have been recovered from the wreck. According to E. M. Ballard, general manager of the circus, 23 employees are missing. Their bodies are supposed to have been destroyed by the fire which consumed the wooden circus cars.

45,000 AUSTRIANS CAPTURED

Italians Drive Enemy Back All Along Piave River and From Montello Plateau—Austrians Flee In Disorder—Italian Bombing Units Being Thrown Across Main Stream of Piave—Germans Checked by Italians

Italy's victory over the Austrians on the Piave front appears likely to assume the proportions of a veritable triumph for the Italians and a disaster of great magnitude for the Austrians.

Already, it is announced in official despatches from Rome, the Austrians have lost 45,000 men, in prisoners and great quantities of material, while the extent of their other casualties may be indicated by the thousands of bodies floating in the waters of the swollen river.

Enemy In Hasty Withdrawal

Unable to force his way farther than the immediate vicinity of the west bank of the river, and with bridges thrown across the stream swept away by the swirling waters of the flood pouring down from the mountains, the enemy began a precipitate retreat Saturday night. So hasty was his withdrawal that he left a great many cannon on the west bank of the Piave while his infantry columns, according to news despatches, are already being pressed by Italian detachments thrown over to the easterly side of the stream.

Foe Routed From Montello Plateau

From the Montello plateau, south to the Adriatic, comes the same story of the Austrian retreat. The Piave river formerly emptied into the sea quiet near Venice, but in recent years its course was changed. In the first rush of the Austrian offensive, the enemy succeeded in crossing the old river bed, which is now a canal. From his positions there he has been driven and the Italians are relentlessly pressing the pursuit.

Italians Cross Main Stream

The latest news despatches sent out tell of Italian bombing units being thrown across the main stream of the Piave, which seems to indicate that the Austrian retreat was not stayed at the eastern bank. There is every indication that the Austrian "hunger offensive" has been a forlorn hope for several days.

No New Attack in Mountains

There has been no further reports foreshadowing a new attack in the mountain sectors of the Italian front. Thrilled by their signal victory in the lower reaches of their battle front, the Italians and allied troops fighting in the theatre of the war may be expected to meet any move with the stubborn resistance which so far has nullified the efforts of the Austrian emperor to carry the war into the plains of Italy and still the murmurs of his soldiers with the loot from captured cities.

Italian Victory Over Germans

Coinciding with the Italian victory on the Piave comes the news of the Italian units on the Marne-Rheims sector repulsing a second heavy German attack on the heights of Bligny, just to the west of Rheims. The German failure was complete, as was the original blow on Saturday night.

French Beat Off Germans

A German attack on the French at Antheuil, west of the Oise, was beaten off on Sunday night. British troops have taken prisoners and inflicted casualties in local operations along their sectors of the front in France.

Munition Workers In German Plant Protest Cut In the Bread Ration

Report That Smallpox is Spreading Among Krupp Workmen at Essen

LONDON, June 24.—Extensive strikes broke out Thursday in Cologne and Muelheim, on the Rhine, owing to a reduction in the bread ration. 20,000 persons quitting work in munition factories, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from the Hague. A Dutch workman returning to The Hague reports that the military and police interfered but failed to prevent a street procession of more than 9000 strikers at Cologne. The strikers who included women, marched in a dense mass to an open place where a mass meeting was held. All the speakers, who included foremen and forewomen, made this declaration: "Unless we get more to eat, we shall not work." The Dutchman said that smallpox was increasing greatly among the Krupp workmen at Essen.

MEATLESS WEEKS ARE NEAR IN GERMANY
LONDON, June 24.—Meatless weeks

Vienno Prepares People for Bad News

Whether the several enemy divisions on the western bank of the Piave will be able to escape capture or destruction in attempting to get across the Piave to the opposite bank will be the most interesting development in the next few hours. The river is swollen and Vienna, in its latest communication, seems to be preparing the way for unwelcome news. It dilates at length on the burden placed on the troops by heavy rains and the torrential Piave. Most of the heavy artillery is still within range at points where the Austrians crossed and near the river bank where the Italian line has held fast.

Previous to the beginning of the enemy retreat there had been little infantry fighting along the Piave for 48 hours. The Italians had occupied the time in shelling the enemy lines and communications heavily. In the mountain situation is unchanged, although the allied artillery has been very active in some sectors.

Austrian Reports False

Austrian official claims of the capture of 40,000 prisoners and of great allied air losses are declared to be falsifications in a semi-official note issued in Rome. It is asserted that the Italian losses in killed, wounded and missing aggregate 40,000. Austrian losses are placed at 130,000 by Italian newspapers.

Civil Unrest in Austria

Civil unrest in Austria-Hungary is still rampant, and there has been little alleviation of food conditions. Failure of the Austrian offensive will have an appreciable effect on the situation. The Austrian cabinet has presented a collective resignation to the emperor.

DEMAND PEACE

Vienna Strikers Formulate Demand That Austrian Government Act

Urge Invitation to Enemy Countries to Enter Into Peace Negotiations

LONDON, June 24.—Strikers in the various factories at Vienna on Saturday, formulated a demand that the Austrian government show itself ready for a general peace and invite the governments of enemy countries to enter into peace negotiations, says a despatch from The Hague to the Times. Representatives of the workers submitted the plea to Baron Buriann, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister.

for Germany are a possibility of the near future. Dr. August Muller, under-secretary for food distribution, at a meeting of the relieving food committee, Saturday says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen, announced that it would be impossible to increase the meat ration. He said that most likely it would be necessary to lower it or to introduce meatless weeks for the whole of Germany or, at any rate, certain parts of the population.

DIES OF WOUNDS

Rev. W. S. Danker, 104th's Chaplain, First of Cloth to Lose Life

Worcester Soldier Parson Buried Near Spot Where He Fell

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, June 24 (By Associated Press)—Rev. Walter S. Danker of Worcester, Mass., chaplain of the 104th Infantry died on Tuesday from a shell wound. He was buried on Wednesday near the spot where he fell.

Rev. Mr. Danker, the first American chaplain to give his life in the service on the American front, was decorated a month ago along with 116 men for gallantry in the fighting at Apremont last April. Rev. Frederick H. Danker, a Y.M.C.A. worker and a brother of the chaplain, was with him when he died.

The religion he brought to the battlefield was a fighting man's religion: religion with a punch—the sort that was as effective in stiffening the backbone as in comforting the last hours of a dying soldier.

Chaplain Danker has been in the army since 1904 when he was appointed chaplain of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry by Governor Bates. In 1906 he resigned to go to Brooklyn, but returned to this state and was appointed chaplain to the 2d regiment in March, 1908. He remained with the 2d until it was translated into the 104th Infantry.

Chaplain Danker was 44 years of age. He came of a strong Episcopal family, his father, uncle and brother having been ministers. He was born in Little Falls, N. Y., January 26, 1874, educated in Pittsfield, in the Boston Latin school, where he was sergeant major of the 3d battalion; in Trinity college, where he was on the track team and manager of a college paper, and in the General Theological seminary, New York, where again he managed the college sheet.

He studied at the Union Theological seminary in New York, became a member of the Associate's mission of Trenton in 1900 and has been associated with churches in Milford, Mass., Brooklyn, N. Y. and Worcester.

Men's affairs were the most attractive of all affairs to the chaplain of the old 2d. He was pre-eminently a man among men, fitted by temperament and by inclination for his post. Military matters were his sole interest outside his pastoral work. His feeling toward the men was the fraternal respect of one man for another. He never failed to appreciate the latent patriotism that showed itself when they enrolled in the militia.

In his recreation as in his work he inclined toward all that appeals to the virtue in a man. His prime interest was fishing.

He shared all the small misfortunes or accidents that may fall to the lot of the fisherman. If the joke was on him he would tell the story and get as good a laugh out of it as his hearers.

Few regimental chaplains in the national guard possessed a more interesting personality than Chaplain Danker. His appearance was typical of the army man. Tall and broad of shoulder, his uniform became him well, and he was thoroughly at home on a horse.

His straight gaze and his steady blue eyes attracted men to him, while his handshake was something to be remembered for its heartiness. He never forgot a man whom he became interested in, for which trait many men of the 2d regiment have reason to be thankful.

And so it was that on Sundays when the regiment was in camp, the chaplain's morning service brought the men to his extemporized pulpit in a thoroughly receptive frame of mind—and they got a practical, sensible bit of a speech that was almost more of a friendly talk than a sermon.

SERVICE FLAG UNFURLED

A service flag containing 15 stars was unfurled at St. Marie's church, South Lowell, yesterday morning. The banner was blessed in the church and later patriotic exercises were held around the flagpole on the front lawn of the building.

At 3:30 o'clock a high mass was celebrated by Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I., who also delivered the sermon. At the close of the mass the flag was blessed and later benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held.

At the close of the church service the congregation repaired to the outside, where Mayor Perry D. Thompson, after raising the flag to the top of the mast, addressed the gathering. Other speakers were Rep. Henry Achen, Arthur Beauchamp and Armand Surprenant, the latter acting as master of ceremonies. The American and French national hymns were sung by a group of young women and the event was brought to a close by the singing of "America" by the assembly. The flag was donated to the parish by Branch St. Marie, A.C.F.

RUSH TO JOIN NEW MERCHANT MARINE

BOSTON, June 24.—Volunteers are rapidly responding to the recent announcement of the United States shipping board that great service to the country could be rendered by American citizens between the ages of 21 and 30, willing to accept the board's offer of free training for fireroom positions in the new merchant marine. Because of the pressing need of firemen for this purpose, 75 engine department apprentices from the training ships of the board at East Boston, were sent to the Hawley school of engineering today for a two weeks' intensive supplementary course, after which they will be ready for regular sea service.

TALK OF REVOLT

The German Army and People Discouraged—Never Speaks of Victory

Returned Travelers Tell of Unrest—“Won't Stand This,” Says Officer

AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 24.—Germany, war-weary and ill-fed, is in a state of unrest so acute that talk of revolt against the imperial government is common among both the military and civil populations, according to Americans who arrived here last night on a Norwegian liner, after long residence in Germany or adjacent neutral countries.

Officers and men, the voyagers said, had told them of a sullenness which is widespread in the German army, predicting that it would reach the point where the troops would refuse to fight.

“You see that I wear the coat of the Kaiser; I only wish that you could know the feeling that lies beneath it, for we are not going to stand this forever,” a German major told Miss Olga Wursberg of Grand Rapids, according to her story on coming ashore.

The conversation, she declared, took place in a hospital at Godesberg, Ger., where the officer talked freely to her, not suspecting that she was an American.

“Why Fight?” Asked Private

Under the same conditions, she declared, a private soldier said to her: “Some day we are all going to put down our arms. Why should we fight? Our officers now, instead of leading us, go behind us with their guns at our backs.”

Miss Wursberg, daughter of Frederick Wursberg, a wealthy Grand Rapids merchant, born in Germany and a naturalized American citizen, declared that the morale throughout Germany is poor and the people near revolt.

With her family, who returned with her, she has lived six years in Germany. She asserted that soldiers in the hospitals convalesce very slowly, so poor is the food given them.

Talk Only of Food

Carl E. Olivarius, a Milwaukee lawyer, returned from a trip through Norway, Sweden and Denmark, declared that food is so scarce in these countries that little can be spared for Germany. Reporting conversations with travelers from the Teuton empire, he said:

“No one in Germany speaks of victory. They always talk of food. The war, in the minds of the civilian population, has become secondary to efforts to get enough to eat.”

Leon Reims of this city, who has resided the past five years in Dresden, declared that Saxony is well supplied with food, but conditions in Berlin and other large cities are “terrible.”

LOYALTY MENUS MADE BY GOVERNMENT RULE

BY BIDDY BYE

Menu making is as fascinating as bridge or chess for housewives who have adopted the “wheatless” until harvest” slogan and who try to combine their flourless program with Hoover's new ruling about beef.

The following menus conform to all of the latest government rules. No wheat is used in preparing any dish. Beef is provided according to the Hoover order, 1-1-1 pounds of clear beef in the week for each person or 1-1-2 pounds of beef with bone. Cottage cheese is used as one of the substitutes for beef.

(Five pounds of clear beef is allowed in these menus for a family of four adults or two adults and three children. Of this the Sunday pot roast takes 2 1/2 pounds and the chopped steak used Thursday takes 1-1-4 pounds. The beef left over from the Sunday dinner is served on casserole with vegetables Monday.)

SUNDAY

Breakfast: Virginia spoon bread, parsley omelet, coffee.

Dinner: Cream of new peas, pot-roast of beef with boiled rice, cucumbers with French dressing, potato custard pie.

Supper: Sandwiches of rye bread with cottage cheese and olive or pickle filling, ice cream, oatmeal wafers, iced tea.

Breakfast: Fruit, oatmeal and cream or top milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Hot rye, corn or raisin bread, lettuce salad dressed with left-over cottage cheese, hot or iced tea.

Dinner: Left-over beef in casserole with potatoes, young carrots, tomatoes, turnips or other vegetable, cold rye, corn-raisin bread, pineapple tapioca.

TUESDAY

Breakfast: Corn cakes, bacon and coffee.

Luncheon: Tuna fish or salmon salad, rice, bread or muffins, tea.

Dinner: Cottage cheese baked with corn or rye bread, new beet salad, potato pudding, tea.

WEDNESDAY

Breakfast: Barley kasha, boiled eggs, coffee.

Luncheon: Fish cakes (left over fish) cold barley gems and syrup, radishes, tea.

Dinner: Cottage cheese and potato croquettes, pork chop (one each), string beans, coffee gelatin.

THURSDAY

Breakfast: Cornmeal mush and milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Thick vegetable puree, rye gingerbread and tea.

Dinner: Chopped steak balls with tomato sauce, baked potatoes, rice cakes, fruit salad, coffee.

FRIDAY

Breakfast: Rye breakfast cakes, baked eggs, coffee.

Luncheon: Bean or corn soup, oatmeal bread, lettuce with French dressing, tea.

Dinner: Cottage cheese and cornmeal fritters, mixed vegetable salad, potato cake, berries or other fresh fruit, iced tea.

SATURDAY

Breakfast: Fish and potato puff, Johnny cake, coffee.

Luncheon: Deviled eggs on lettuce, toasted corn-bread, tea.

Dinner: Baked fish with potato balls and cucumber sauce, cold oatmeal bread, peas or spinach, shredded pineapple.

CARTRIDGE CO. FOREMEN HOLD OUTING

The grounds of the Genoa club in Tyngsboro were yesterday the scene of a happy gathering, the occasion being an outing by the foremen of the United States Cartridge Co., who had as their guests the overseers and executives of the company. A varied list of sports was carried out and a bountiful turkey dinner was served, all present spending a most enjoyable afternoon.

Among the guests present were Mayor Perry D. Thompson, C. Fred Cunningham, assistant general manager; Gerald Cahill, general superintendent; W. J. Robinson, R. A. Wentworth; Lucien Horton and C. C. Sibley, assistant superintendents; H. B. Smith, head of the employment bureau and Chief of Police Martin Conway. The first number on the program was the serving of a turkey dinner, which took place in the clubhouse. The post-prandial exercises consisted of an address of welcome by John F. Kenney, music by the U. S. Cartridge Co. band, address by Mayor Thompson, and vocal selections by Messrs. Waterworth, Gorman, Cusack and McCarthy.

The program of sports included a baseball game between the overseers and foremen, the former winning by a score of 20 to 19.

The races were won by the following: Fifty yards, open, McOsker and Connolly; fat men's race, Chamberlain and Rogers; special race between Mayor Thompson and C. Fred Cunningham, won by the latter; married men's race, Fox and Wayne; standing broad jump, Boynton and Wright; running broad jump, Cunningham and DeRoehn; hop, step and jump, Bradley and McOsker.

MATRIMONIAL

Lieut. Hammond Barnes, U.S.A., of this city and now located at Camp Devens, and Miss Gladys Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright of Dorchester, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride by Rev. James H. Holden of the Roxbury Universalist church. The bride was attended by Miss Gladys Hayden of Dorchester, while the best man was Mr. Arthur B. Barnes of Fall River, a brother of the bridegroom. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held. The bridegroom is the son of Henry W. Barnes, president of the Central Savings bank of this city.

Sylvestre-Cloutier

Mr. Maurice Sylvestre and Miss Amanda Cloutier were married last evening at Notre Dame de Lourdes' rectory by Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., pastor. The witnesses were Messrs. J. Prudent and William Cloutier.

Paquette-Duplessis

Mr. Joseph E. Paquette and Miss Marie Rose A. Duplessis were united in marriage at St. Joseph's rectory yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Athanasius Marquis, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. George Paquette and Philippe Morrisette.

Horlink-Cooperstein

Mr. Sam Horlink of this city and Miss Gertrude Cooperstein of Chelsea were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom, 74 Lincoln street, the officiating clergyman being Rabbi Elias Wolfson. The bride was attended by Miss Fannie Horlink, sister of the groom, while the best man was Philip Cooper of Nashua, N. H. The bride party entered the parlor to the sweet strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by a nephew of the groom, Mr. George Myers. The bride wore white satin with pearl trimmings, and a veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses. The bridesmaid was attired in blue satin and carried pink roses. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held, present at the festivities being guests from Boston, Dorchester, Nashua, Eighteen Lawrence and Haverhill. After July 15 the couple will make their home at 74 Lincoln street. The ushers at the wedding were Messrs. Bennett Levinson of Dorchester and Bennett Myers of this city.

Martineau-Marchand

A pretty marriage took place this morning when Mr. David Martineau and Miss Corinne E. Marchand were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a private nuptial mass celebrated at St. Joseph's rectory at 7 o'clock by Rev. Armand Barron, O.M.I. The bride wore white crepe de chine with veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The witnesses were Messrs. David Martineau and Eddie Chaput. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom, 109 Alken avenue. The happy couple left later on an extended honeymoon trip.

Carey-Donovan

Sergt. Lawrence M. Carey, 304 Ambulance company, Camp Devens, and Miss R. H. Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Donovan, of 23 Lynden street, Concord, N. H., were married yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church, Ayer, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. McGinn. The bridesmaid was Miss Kathleen O'Hearn, while the best man was Private Thomas McCarthy of Camp Devens. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Carey of North Andover.

ROGERS HALL ATHLETIC CLUB WILL FORMALLY OPEN TO- MORROW EVENING

The Rogers Hall Athletic club for the young women of this city which is being conducted under the auspices of the local Y.M.C.A. will open formally tomorrow evening for the summer's work. An interesting program has been planned for the entertainment of the members of the club; among the evening's artists will be Mr. Vioh, soloist; Miss Helen Barr, a graduate of the school and a splendid singer, and Miss Helen Casey, reader. Exercises will be held in the gymnasium. There will be an opportunity to inspect the swimming pool and experienced swimmers will be on hand to demonstrate its splendors. There are still a number of vacancies for the Wednesday afternoon high school division of the club and also the Tuesday and Friday grade school divisions. Members who have signed up but who have not yet paid their membership dues are asked to do so tomorrow evening. There will be physical examinations every afternoon and evening this week with the exception of Tuesday and all members are requested to have their examination some time during the week.

ZONE SYSTEM CAUSES LITTLE CONFUSION

The much anticipated new zone system of collecting fares on the Bay State Street Railway company's lines in this city went into effect this morning with very little confusion, according to Supt. Thomas Lees. Regular commuters in many cases had made a study of the new scale of fare rates as it would affect them individually, while others left the whole matter up to the conductor. The conductors had been issued their book of instructions previously and those with regular lines had time to make a thorough study of the new regulations, particularly as they would affect the lines on which they were working. The result was that comparative smoothness reigned all around.

On some lines passengers considered the new rates a little stiff, as on the Chelmsford Centre route where a 100 per cent. increase is brought about as a result of the zone system. The fare from Merrimack square to the centre or from the centre to Merrimack square is now 12 cents whereas it formerly was but six.

Suburban patrons are hit hardest by the new fare rates but on the whole the system is on a more suitable basis than previously and it is a case of being for the greatest good of the greatest number and incidentally for Old Bill Bay State.

The sale of ticket books was brisk during the early morning hours and continued with more or less force throughout the day. These books may be secured at the waiting room in the square. Synchronous with the introduction of the new fare system on the Chelmsford line there was also inaugurated the pay-as-you-leave system of fare collection. This is like the system now in vogue on the Westford street line.

A new schedule of running time for the Nashua line has been adopted. Trips will be made hourly from 6.35 a. m. to 10.35 p. m. Formerly the cars on this line left at 45 minutes past the hour.

The Bon Marche

Reflections:

Suppose some business friends are to visit your home. Will they change their opinion of you, after the visit, or will you gain by it?

Is your home in good repair? Are your walls newly decorated?

Wall paper will do more to beautify the home than anything else. It forms a background for all other things. It emphasizes woodwork and furniture. It blends with rugs and draperies. Wall paper emits a warmth, a cheer, that will bring joy to you.

Folks are judged not only by actions, but by how they live and the kind of a home they live in. Make your home a cheerful and cozy place to live in, as well as a business asset. Let us help you gain prestige and friends.

Think it over.

REALISTIC WARFARE AT CAMP DEVENS

AYER, June 24.—A bill of realistic warfare under the direction of officers of the French army was accorded members of the 301st engineers at Camp Devens, today. "German sappers" tunneled a mine under an "American trench" for 100 feet, 20 feet below the surface of the ground. A ton and a half of dynamite was touched off by the "Germans." The minute the mine blew up, wiping out the trench, "American" infantry rushed to the crater and annihilated the "Boches" before they could take advantage of their feat.

SECOND IN FORUM SERIES MEETINGS

It is expected that there will be a capacity audience in high school hall tomorrow evening when the second of a series of six forum meetings will be held under the auspices of the New England Congress of Forums. These meetings are designed to bring before the public well informed speakers to discuss various phases of the war.

Tomorrow evening Dr. Lyman P. Powell, president of Hobart college of New York, will be the speaker and his topic will be, "Personal Impressions of the War Zone." The meeting will be called at 7.30 and Hugh J. Molloy will preside. Admission is free and no tickets are required.

As vice president of the Association of American Colleges, Dr. Powell has recently returned from a study of educational, moral and other conditions of the war zone. In England he was the guest of the various universities. In France he had the co-operation of the leading educators, editors and statesmen, and was the guest of honor of the French government, which sent him throughout the devastated region and to the western front, with military guides and armed guards, to study conditions first hand. In addition to other matters, he observed the work of the Red Cross and Y.M.C.A. and since his return, three months ago, he has spoken over one hundred and fifty times in the interest of these various causes.

Dr. Powell was educated at the University of Wisconsin, the University of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Theological seminary. As a visitor at the front, he had a series of thrilling and interesting experiences, being at the centre of the worst of all the London air raids, and seeing the bombing of the larger French cities. Since his return from Europe, he has spoken in some twenty different states for the Red Cross, the councils of defense, the committee on church and the moral aims of the war, etc. He makes a special plea to think of nothing but the war, to stand behind the government, to prepare to rebuild and re-educate a world once it is redeemed from pre-primitive autocracy.

GRADUATES OF ST. MICHAEL'S

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Graduates of the seventh and eighth grades of St. Michael's parochial school held their annual outing today at the Knights of Columbus grounds in Tyngsboro. A special car left Lowell at 8.30 this morning filled with the youngsters. The affair was a general charge of the sisters of the school. The day was given over to sporting events and the enjoyment of the various facilities at the grounds. The young people will return early this evening.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

Splendid Program by Graduates of the Immaculate Conception School

Annual graduation exercises of the Immaculate Conception school were held last evening at the Opera House before a large audience of friends and relatives of the 46 pupils who were awarded diplomas. An excellent and timely program was carried out and one of the features of the evening was the appearance of many of the young girls in Red Cross uniforms and young boys in the garb of various branches of the national service.

Schytte's "Toy Symphony" was the opening number of the program. The following pupils of the music class gave it: Pianos, B. McAdams, A. McQuade, M. Flanagan; violins, K. Riley, R. Booth, E. Martin, B. Riley; Auto, D. Martin, Cello, M. Quinn.

The junior boys gave a song, "The Broomstick Cavalry," in an enjoyable manner and were followed by the kindergarten children in a song and recitation, "The Captain."

"An Evening in Fairyland" was one of the prettiest features of the evening. The principals were M. Lynch and M. Lupold. "Little Grandmas" was also well given with M. Neenan in the leading role.

Senior pupils gave a patriotic medley, "Columbia Play Drill," with a lot of snap that was very enjoyable.

Four medals for scholarship and good character, donated by Miss Annabelle Costello in memory of her brother, the late Rev. George A. Costello, were presented to Mary Lynch, Louise Pollard, William E. Dooley and Charles J. Curvey.

Mary E. Farley was the valedictorian and her address was unusually good. Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor of the church, spoke at length to the graduates.

The list of graduates was as follows:

Agnes Delaney Burns, Christina Cella, Brick, Esther Florence Purrows, Rose Anna Corey, Evelyn Mary Durkin, Mary Ellen Evelyn Farley, Mabel Frances Hansbury, Kathryn Marie Higgins, Anna Mabel Hogan, Agnes Kelley, Mary Lynch, Catherine Louise Lavery, Katherine Anna McMahon, Margaret A. McGrogan, Beatrice Mary Marvell, Anna Rita McMillan, Barbara McAdams, Julia Gladys Murphy, Loretta Mary McMahon, Mary Josephine Noon, Louise Pollard, Catherine Veranda Quinn, Mary Elizabeth Quinn, Agnes Reardon, William Joseph Brown, James Francis Brown, Francis Margaret A. McGrogan, Cahill, William Xavier Connor, Leonard William Crann, William Edmund Dooley, Geo. Leonard Duggan, Charles Justin Garvey, Lawrence Patrick Kane, Bernard James Luppold, Charles Edward McGovern, William Francis McNamara, James O'Donnell, John Joseph Quinn, Thomas Francis Reddy, John Joseph Thyme, Stephen Thomas Wyman.

Luminous house numbers and street name plates traced in little button-like mirrors which reflect and magnify the smallest glimmer of light are used in Paris, where in the darkened streets ordinary signs cannot be seen.

LOWELL MAN APPOINTED

BANK EXAMINER

W. Norman Scott of 732 Stevens st. has been appointed assistant national bank examiner for New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts by the comptroller of currency, and he will assume his new duties on July 1.

Mr. Scott has had considerable experience in banking business and only recently resigned a position with a local bank to accept a place with the C. B. Coburn Co. He is a very capable, aggressive and conscientious worker and his many friends, including his present and past employers, are elated over his appointment to such an important position. Mr. Scott's office headquarters will be at Manchester, N. H., but he will continue to reside in Lowell.

MORE LOWELL MEN GO TO CAMP DEVENS

boards called the registrants in today's quota for final instructions and this morning the men assembled at the board headquarters for the last time. They then went informally to the railroad station, said good-byes and were soon speeding on their way "up there." At Camp Devens they were assigned to the depot brigade.

With one exception the soldiers who went away this morning were from Lowell. Division 1 board sent Luke A. Woodbury of Providence, R. I., to Camp Devens. He was transferred from Division 1 board of the latter city to the local board. He is a brother of Rev. Walter A. Woodbury, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church of this city.

Division one sent 12 men; division 2, five; division three, 17; and division four, seven.

LOWELL BOY PROMOTED

IN HONOLULU

Lieut. Edward P. Heelon, a Lowell boy, has had the unique honor of being commissioned a lieutenant while serving Uncle Sam in distant Honolulu. He is a member of the regular army forces and after receiving his commission was transferred to Camp Gordon, Ga., for service with the National army there.

Lieut. Heelon is a nephew of Mrs. Patrick Ryan of 48 Birch street and was brought up by Mrs. Ryan. He enlisted in the regular army three years ago and since then has spent most of his time in Honolulu. Recently he was informed that he had been commissioned a lieutenant and this honor comes after three years of work and training with steady advancement.

He is a graduate of the Moody grammar school, Lowell high school and attended Holy Cross Prep. school. He spent the week-end with his aunt and left for Camp Gordon late Saturday. During his short leave of absence he was tendered a reception and banquet by a number of his friends at the new Chinese restaurant and he told many interesting stories of army life at the time.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note:—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

There is much to praise in the Paramount production of "Tyrant Fear," with Dorothy Dalton as the star, at the B. F. Keith theatre, the first half of the present week, beginning this afternoon. It is, at once, a panorama of rugged life in the Canadian north-west, and a study in feminine psychology, deep and subtle. Fancy a girl like "Allaine Grandet," the victim of a nameless fear, born of the brutality of the monsters, who held her in a state of supine subjection to their every whim? Fancy her being sold as a mere chattel by an inhuman father to a more brutal trapper, a primal beast whose sole desire is to prove to this shrinking girl that he is her lord and master! This was the situation in which Allaine found herself when she was taken to the cabin of "Latour," her husband in the northern wilds, half buried in the snow. She endures his vile treatment uncomplainingly like a dumb animal, because her soul is held in a vice-like grip of prenatal fear. Even when Latour gambles with Dermot, keeper of the dance hall, with her as a stake and loses her, she makes no protest against the shame that is to be her's once she becomes an inmate of Dermot's den. She follows her new master docilely for the fear that masters her, holds her completely in subjection to the despotic rule under which she writhes and lives. When she emerges from the Arctic night into the garish interior of Dermot's den, crowded with a motley crew, she is interested only because the pretty costumes of the women please her childlike fancy. She wards off mechanically the brutes who come to her. But one day she has a hard struggle with a miner, and there comes to her assistance Harley Dane, the pianist in the dance hall, a man of education who has gone down through destitution. A friendship comes and it ripens into love, although Dane is not aware that Allaine has a husband. But his nature undergoes a transformation. There are successive steps after this, in one of which Allaine shoots Dermot to protect herself. And, as soon as she does this, she has mastered fear and controls herself. The remainder of the story has much strength. Miss Dalton has the role of "Allaine," and does wonders with it.

HAD NERVOUS

INDIGESTION

This Springfield Woman Found Quick Relief When She Used the Tonic Treatment

Many American people suffer from nervous indigestion. Worry, a deep grief, overwork, lack of exercise or a general run-down condition of the system will cause it. Among school children overstudy and confinement in badly ventilated rooms will bring it on. It is a disease of the nerves rather than of the digestive organs and is corrected by giving needed nourishment to the nervous system by building up the blood. This is the tonic treatment and its good effects are seen in the case of Mrs. S. Lewis, of 160 College street, Springfield, Mass. She says:

"I had nervous indigestion for about four years. I first noticed that I was losing flesh and felt miserable much of the time. I had severe nervous spells. I suffered from pain after eating, especially in my left side. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommended in the papers and gave them a trial. I noticed improvement while I was taking the first box and took four boxes altogether. I can truthfully say that the pills have certainly helped my stomach and that I feel better than I have in a long time and I shall use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills whenever I need a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for nervous people because they are non-alcoholic and nervous patients should avoid alcoholic stimulants.

The treatment consists largely in rest, recreation and the use of the tonic, the discontinuance of any practice that may have caused the trouble and abstinence from tea, coffee and stimulants. As the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood the latter must be built up and made rich and pure. Especially if there is loss of weight and pallor indicating a weakness of the blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are best adapted.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.—Adv.

while among the other players are Thurston Hall, Melbourne McDowell and William Conklin.

The second feature is "High Stakes," with J. Barney Sherry in the role of a master cracksmen. Scotland Yard is famous for the traps it sets to capture the cunning criminals of the continent. This famous institution has battled plots against kings, nobles planned against the Bank of England and international conspiracies. But all the craft and cunning of the detectives prove useless against the amazing genius of Ralph Stanning in "High Stakes." It is a thrilling picture. A comedy and the Hearst-Pathe News pictures will be shown on this same bill.

THE STRAND

"Lend Me Your Name," a six-part rapid fire farce comedy, replete with perplexing complications, with Harold Lockwood playing the dual role of an earl and a burglar, is one of the good things on the bill at The Strand for the first three days of the week, commencing with matinee today. It's the amazing adventures of a man and his double and it offers Lockwood wonderful opportunity to portray his unusual ability.

Miss June Elvidge, Lowell's biggest

film favorite in "A Woman of Redemption" is to be the other feature. Miss Elvidge is supported by John Bowers and a competent cast. The story tells of the manner in which an unsophisticated girl of the mountains redeems a young man who has been extremely dissolute. The redemption occurs only after a great many extremely exciting events in which the girl's brains and courage stand her and the young man in good stead. Miss Lillian Chailoux, a Lowell girl, will be the week's soloist and her feature should add materially to the pleasure of the bill. There will be a good comedy and a new Pathe Week-

It's always cool, clean and comfortable at The Strand. Don't forget there are 500 ten cent seats at all performances.

ROYAL THEATRE

Today and tomorrow the Royal Theatre takes great pleasure in announcing a hooking of one of the most sensational productions of the current picture season. It is called "Zongar, the Daredevil of Romance" and comes to Lowell highly recommended. This is an unusual picture in many respects, because it marks the entrance of Bernard Macfadden into the motion picture field. Mr. Macfadden is a noted physical culturist of New York City and heretofore all his energies have been concentrated on the spreading of his beliefs that cleanliness, well regulated eating and plenty of exercise make for the perfect existence. This might lead one to the conclusion that "Zongar" is an uninteresting propaganda picture, but such is far from being the case. Its chief protagonist is a young man of sound habits and the story unfolds in a number of thrilling and sensational episodes, the manner in which the type of manhood triumphs over all opposing forces. George Larkin, known by his many feats of daring in past pictures, is given a great number of opportunities to exercise his astounding ability along this line in "Zongar." There is thrill after thrill in which he is the center of attraction and of dull moments there are none in the entire five reels. And the added attraction is no less important for it brings Charlotte, the famous New York ice skater in her first picture offering, "The Frozen Warning," a magnificent five-act photoplay of international intrigue and love—space forbids us telling of the wonders in this picture. But you should not miss it, which is its best recommendation. Then a Big-V comedy and others will complete a most satisfying picture show. Usual prices.

LAKEVIEW PARK

Did you ever try Lakeview in the afternoon, when there were plenty of people so that there's plenty of company, but not too much to crowd you? That peerless park is at its best, then, but, big crowd or little crowd, Harry Kittredge's men know how to serve you so that you get the maximum of pleasure with a minimum of expense, and J. Barney Sherry's 10 musicians make your feet itch to glide over the waxen floor and Barney Horan's megaphone solos put wings on your feet. Try that this afternoon or tonight and all this week-end ride from your home—it doesn't cost any more.

THE KASINO

Accessible—that's the thing in the Kasino's favor these days of high costs. There are many other attributes which might be mentioned that make the Kasino a high class amusement resort, but we'll give you opportunity for a personal Kasino experience. That's the way to learn. Special—On Friday night, the dance contest for the Merrimack valley championship.

SEPERATE NEGOTIATIONS

LONDON, June 24—Preliminary negotiations, presumably regarding the Dobrudja, have begun between Bulgaria and Turkey and Germany only learned of them through its espionage service, the Daily Mail correspondent at The Hague says he is informed. Austria probably will participate in these separate negotiations in the course of a few days.

M. Malinoff, the new Bulgarian premier, is said to agree entirely with the plan of King Ferdinand to exact fulfillment of Bulgaria's demands at whatever cost.

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN-BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

DEPORT THE ANARCHISTS

Congress is about to pass a bill for the deportation of alien anarchists. Better late than never. The Sun for years has contended that the moment any man admits that he is an anarchist he should be deprived of his liberty because he thereby declares that he is an enemy of all government and of organized society.

If such an individual be an alien he should be deported at once; if a native of the United States, he should be jailed for his natural life or until he decides to become a law-abiding citizen.

THE ITALIAN VICTORY

After the German drive on the western front has been practically held, it is glorious news to find that Italy has completely routed the Austrian drive by which the Kaiser expected to put Italy out of the struggle and force an early peace on the German plan.

Again have the plans of the war lords of Germany been foiled and again has fresh inspiration been offered to the Allies.

It seems that the enemy forces and the peoples behind them are everywhere war-weary, demoralized and almost starved so that when the United States forces get into the conflict with full strength they will have but to deliver the knock-out blow to the enemy.

The rapid transportation of nearly a million soldiers to Europe has changed the situation at the front and will soon turn the scales in favor of the Allies which are supposed to have 7,000,000 men in action holding the various fronts against an equal number, but without the power to move possessed by the enemy operating on the inner circle.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

There are a great many people outside Lowell who would like to come here to earn good wages during the war and at the same time have the government provide them fine dwellings almost rent free. Against any such imposition the government will doubtless take care of itself.

If new buildings are to be erected here for the munition workers, it would be well to hold the number to the minimum necessary to accommodate only those families and individuals who cannot find comfortable quarters.

It is to be remembered also that as a result of the increase in car fares which falls heavily upon suburban residents, if any large number of dwellings were built here by the government and offered below the prevailing rents, many of the suburbanites would rent them for the period of the war and then move back to their homes in the adjoining towns. That would leave these new houses vacant and a drag on the local real estate market.

The housing problem is, therefore, one that has to be very carefully considered in order that while helping the munition workers nothing may be done to injure our city or the general taxpayers.

NOTE THE CASUALTY LIST

Have you noticed our casualty list recently? Do you realize that nearly 8,800 of our boys have been killed or wounded or captured by the Huns? Deaths in action and from wounds and accidents amount to more than 3,300. The list grows with the days, and will grow the more quickly as the number of the boys in action increases.

The casualty list makes you more readily understand, perhaps, why the government and those humanitarian agencies connected with war work call incessantly for financial support. Funds are needed to keep our men equipped, to keep them properly fed, to keep them cheered up—to give them everything they should have and as quickly as possible, so that the casualty list may not be increased because of the lack of anything. And do not forget that the number of men who must be provided for, increases each day, which means the need of more and more support from you.

You are now asked to pledge yourself to save to the utmost of your ability and to buy War Savings stamps that there may be more money, labor and materials with which to back up those who fight and die for you. When you do, this is sure to remember that in being allowed to do it you are granted a great favor. Others give their lives.

KEEP INDUSTRY BOOMING

The government needs money to win the war and money in vast amounts.

The Liberty Loans we have passed were but mere child's play compared to what is to come as the war progresses. The war loans come periodically, but the taxes regularly every year, taxes by the city, by the state, and by the nation.

These demands will come quite frequently and between the Liberty Loan drives will be sandwiched others for the Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A. and the K. of C.

Thus it appears that the demands made upon the people for money will be almost continuous. For this reason it is all important that the industries of the country be maintained in a state of prosperity. Otherwise the people cannot meet the demands of the war in a manner that will give the government the money it needs.

It is needless to say that a shortage of coal would play havoc with nearly all industries; and next to that comes a shortage of labor. The government can help to prevent both. In some cases the draft of war funds and government competition may force certain essential industries to the wall financially. In such cases it would be only fair for the government to advance financial aid so as to prevent failures that would bring harmful consequences.

UNJUST ATTACK ON AUSTRIA

Congressman Kenyon of Iowa made a very bitter attack upon Austria in the national house the other day, representing her as the "beast" for whose existence as a separate entity there is no excuse. He seemed to attribute to Austria the same brutal instincts and disregard of all laws human and divine that Germany has exhibited since the very beginning of the war. Austria's chief offense against humanity and civilization in this war consists in the fact that she is the ally of Germany and far too pliantly following the orders of the German war lords.

Austria of her own volition has not revealed in cruelty, immorality and debauchery such as Germany has displayed wherever she went and of which she seemed to take especial pride. It is not good policy for a congressman or a newspaper in this or any allied country to give expression to such sentiments as those of Mr. Kenyon.

We intend to treat Austria with the greatest kindness and consideration the moment she cuts loose from the alliance that makes her the vassal of Germany. If Germany considers treaties but scraps of paper, Austria should not be bound by a whole bundle of paper. It is true that Austria started the war, but Germany was the instigator behind the scenes and the cause of its spread to other powers. The condition of Austria at the present time seems to be one of general exhaustion and distress, and unless there is an early change for the better, she will be able to do but very little fighting. She is already reported to be making peace overtures to France, in hopes that the latter will agree to drop out with Austria; but it appears that Germany wants to be a party to any peace arrangement to be made. For all these reasons, we deem it highly injudicious for any congressman to make an unjust attack upon Austria calculated to show popular indignation against her on account of anything she has done since the war started. As compared with the foul deeds of Germany, those of Austria are mild and much more in line with the customs of civilized warfare.

SAVING OUR PRISONERS

Of all the allied nations fighting against the forces of the Hun, only one thus far has given the bully of Europe the medicine which will stop his torture of prisoners of war. That country is France.

There was a time when Germany ill-treated French captives. They starved them. They stole parcels French people sent into Germany for their captured soldiers. They beat them. They forced them to labor long hours in death-bringing conditions. They murdered them.

And Germany laughed at French pleas to exchange prisoners, for Germany was grinding the blood and life out of prisoners in her camps while Germans held in French prison camps were well fed. Germany did not want to send her captives back until she had wrung the last ounce of toil out of them and made them unfit for further war duty.

Then it was that France began her program of reprisals. When the Germans served "soup like hill-stickers' paste" to Frenchmen the French procured the recipe and supplied a similar fluid to the Germans in their prisons. When the German government "lost" Frenchmen's parcels and offered no satisfaction the French stopped the parcels for German prisoners—and cut down their rations.

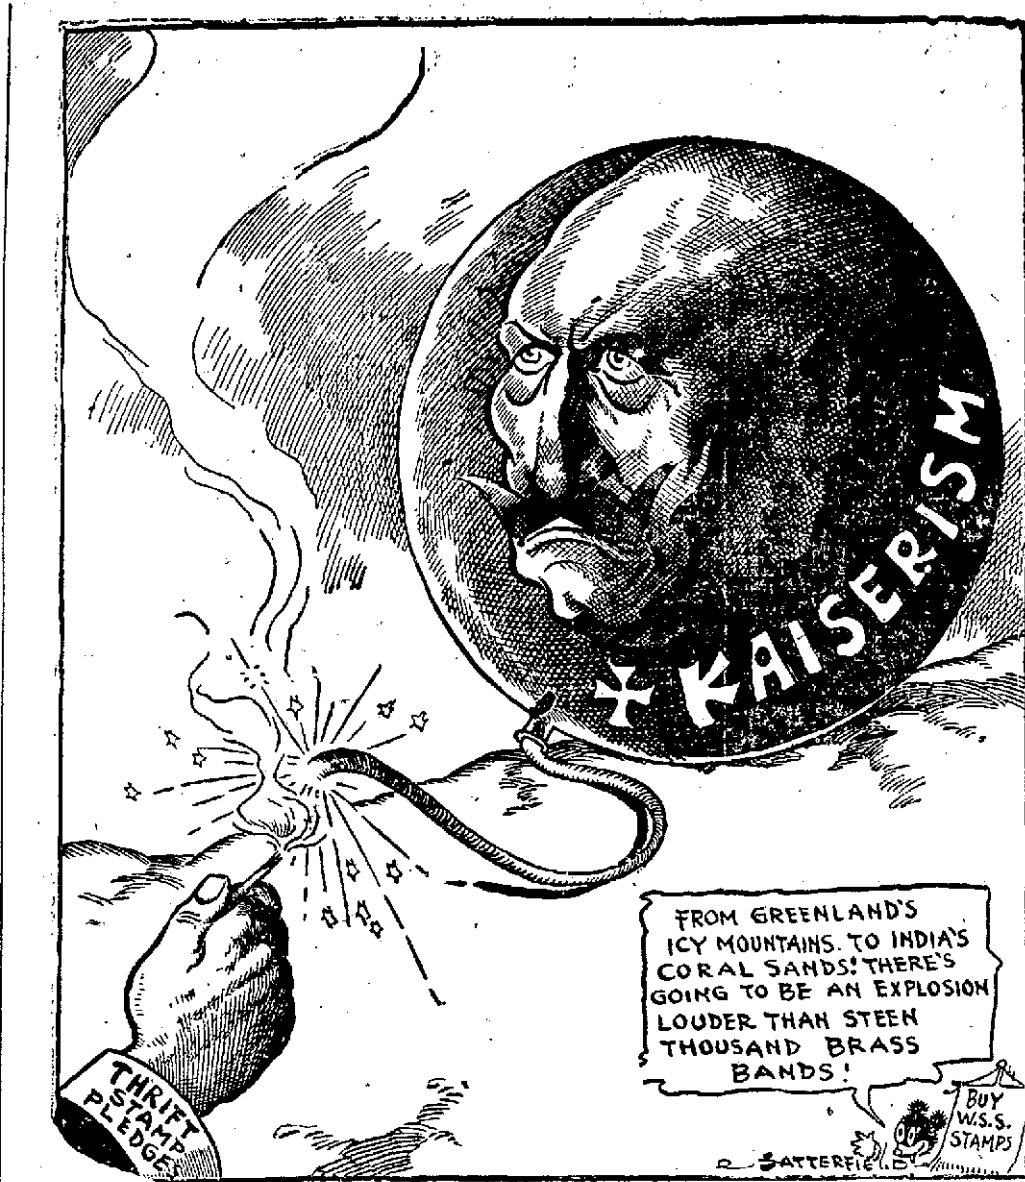

In that way France convinced the Huns that French prisoners must be treated as human beings. Then Germany agreed to exchange prisoners with France.

But Germany continues her horribly cruel treatment of British prisoners.

Great Britain thus far has refused to put into execution the program of reprisal which would protect her men in German camps more surely than anything else. This mistake, though, is in a fair way to be corrected. The British public demands a general exchange of prisoners and a program of exact measure for measure "medicine" for German prisoners.

Few American prisoners are in German camps. More will be there. There have been well authenticated charges of mistreatment of our boys. These indicate that the Germans are abusing our boys more shamefully than the prisoners of any other country.

We have the cure for that—reprisals. You can't persuade a vicious brute by argument, kind treatment or nice words. You can kick him off his prey, and you can beat him into submission. He doesn't understand any other treatment. Anything else he considers cowardice and is an encouragement to greater cruelty. The American government may already have taken steps which will bring about a general exchange of American and German prisoners. If it has not, an immediate effort should be made. In the meantime, and to bring Germany to an early compliance, a rigid plan of reprisals should be put into execution. President Wilson could scarcely be brought to adopt such a policy, as he doubtless foresees the time when Germany will cease to capture any prisoners and when even Germany will not dare to ill-treat Americans. But our government will not tolerate any cruel treatment of American prisoners without adopting drastic measures to bring Germany to a sense of her responsibility, whether those measures involve reprisals or a more vigorous policy of getting into the heart of Germany.

SEEN AND HEARD

A fellow takes awful chances when he tells the barber he's in a hurry.

You may say what you will, but an evening in the country is generally pretty well spent.

A 15-year-old Pittsfield girl declined to assist a family in doing housework when she learned that there was no piano in the house that she could use for practicing her music lessons.

A Feast Five Days Away

"Can you give a hungry man something to eat?" said a knight of the road to a lady who answered his knock at a home on Crescent street Monday.

"Surely," said the woman, "do you like fish?" "Fish!" exclaimed the wayfarer, "if there is anything I do like it is fish." "All right," replied the woman, "come around Friday."—Rockland Independent.

And the Pastor Chuckled

At a recent Hingham wedding there was one incident that proved amusing—for the mistaken party who figured in it. The ceremony at the bride's home over a rush was made for the waiting auto by someone from the house. Horridly the crowd surrounded that conveyance and decorated it with signs, even to flowing ribbons. The serenaders followed the auto until it reached its destination on another street. And who do you suppose stepped out? The marrying clergyman!

Some Big Catches

Anglers on the coast of Florida often catch sharks weighing 150 pounds with a 16 ounce rod. On the California coast, too, huge sharks, 12 feet or 15 feet long are bagged. Occasionally a tarpon is caught which ends the business by smashing not only the line but the boat. The gentleman anglers of the Californian coast actually have a challenge cup for the biggest swordfish caught in the course of the season. The record is a fish 150 pounds in weight, and the sport is described as about as exciting as tiger hunting.

Peculiar Forms of Currency

Before the mechanism of exchange between the countries was firmly established and before the development of trade by rail and water, it was necessary to use other means of payment. In Abyssinia rings and other objects of decoration were used as a medium of exchange. Fish were used in Newfoundland; Marco Polo states that porcelain was adopted in Asia; Humboldt remembers when cocoa took the place of money in Mexico. In the colonial days in the United States tobacco was used in Virginia and furs in the Hudson bay district, while in Scotland mits were employed for the payment of purchases.

swimming, and not flying, is in appearance more like a turtle than a bird. His short legs are placed far backward. When standing, he must be straight up and down to keep his balance, with the centre of gravity immediately above the base of support. Wading birds with featherless legs have webbed feet, enabling them to shift their centres of gravity whether wading, flying or swimming. The webs between the toes, as in water spaniel dogs and retrievers, form oars, such as no human has been able to imitate.

Proof of the Pudding

The other day we saw A fine company automobile All riding in a noisy color advertising Their make of tires. All tires guaranteed Hand-made and warranted 5000 miles, the best tire in the world, etc. With that said off, it must be some tire we figured, and looked at The tires of the auto To see what they looked like. But they weren't Their famous make of tires, and on the back There were two spare tires, and they also Weren't their wonderful Hand-made tires. You'd Naturally think if they Were making tires and Bragging what great tires They are, they'd surely Have their own auto Outlined in their instead. Of riding the bus up in Another make of tire, huh? It's the old game. The millionaire stogie. The smoke and heat bit Havana's, and the vest pocket Automaker riding around in A twin six limousine.

Nagging Always Eats

Nobody minds a word of advice and encouragement. It's the nagging at every turn that puts the North pole around people's hearts. And this chilling process some times breeds forth in volcanic eruption that makes both vocal and animal temperature rise. And when it's all said what good has been done? In spite of your concern and growls a great many people follow their own council anyway. Your insistent advice only serves to keep matters in an uproar. It will be infinitely better for everybody if you will take a graduate course somewhere that will be commensurate with your dignity and stiff enough to keep you too busy to become a neddler.

Two Things Indispensable

"We must have something to eat and the papers to read. Everything else we can give up. . . If we live in a small way, there are at least new dresses and bonnets and everyday luxuries which we can dispense with. If the young 'zouave' of the family looks smart in his new uniform it's respectable head is content, though he himself growl seedy as a caraway-umbel late in the season. He will cheerfully join the perturbed map of his old beaver by patient brushing in place of buying a new one, if only the lieutenant's jaunty cap is what it should be. We all take a pride in sharing the epidemic economy of the time. Only bread and the newspaper we must have, whatever else we do without.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Individual Expression

If we said it once, we said it a hundred times as we wore out our American shoes on the hard white roads of England, and caught glimpses through the hedges of the old English cottages. Why can't we in America build houses that look more homelike? Why can't we give the houses on our suburban roads and country lanes more of this English look of always having been there? It seems altogether illogical that an English house of the olden time, where the food was served from the remote kitchen through the cooling process of a long hall, and where a single staircase had to suffice for all purposes, should show to the world a look of comfort and well ordered living, while our convenient kitchen and serving pantry, our front and back stairs, our well-planned living-room, dining-room and bedrooms show

Coal Bulletin No. 9

We opened our John Street and Gorham Street offices for business last Tuesday. Up to Saturday night we had taken orders for more than ONE THOUSAND tons of anthracite coal and subscriptions for shares ran over FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS. Those subscriptions came in 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 50 and 100 share lots.

For this splendid response to our public partnership plan we thank you heartily.

There are hundreds of people in the city who are going to take some shares. To you we say, "Do it at once!" Pretty soon there will be a big rush and shares will all be gone. Don't blame us if you fail to get in. We invite the closest scrutiny and investigation of our method of conducting the coal business. IT'S AS STRONG AS THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR. Call at either office and please remember that we want you as a member of our big family and you can take one, two or five shares or any number up to one hundred.

Washing Sheep in Vermont

There's folks that look like other folks, And things germane to other things; There's jokes that libe with other jokes, And kings as punk as other kings; There's one thing, though, that's plumb unique— Look up that word before you sleep— There never was and never will be Jest such a thing as washing sheep. Of course, the sheep have gone, because, I don't know why—I wish I did— But I'm a-telling how it was When I was just a Windsor kid; Full records of them towed days Inside my memory box I keep— I know there never was or will be Jest such a thing as washing sheep. You first have got to find a brook Right straight beside the road, that makes A deep hole turn, and then you look For withes, and hemlock, boards and stakes; With them you build two rough house-yards Each side the brook, jest where it's deep— It takes a lot of work and whatnot To set the stage for washing sheep. Next day all hands start off at four— For Bald Hill pasture, six o'clock— Look out in Goshen for a flock— A-shaking salt and hollering "Yoek!" At last the flock flies through the bars, And laund the road begins to creep; It's ten or fifteen minutes ready To laundger the lovely sheep. The washer, he's the one that's boss, Stands facing up-stream, like a trout, And you, the washer, you look For withes, and hemlock, boards and stakes; With them you build two rough house-yards Each side the brook, jest where it's deep— It takes a lot of work and whatnot To set the stage for washing sheep. Next day all hands start off at four— For Bald Hill pasture, six o'clock— Look out in Goshen for a flock— A-shaking salt and hollering "Yoek!" At last the flock flies through the bars, And laund the road begins to creep; It's ten or fifteen minutes ready To laundger the lovely sheep. Misses Cowherd and Rogers Holding the Seven-Star Service Flag Now on Its Way Across the Continent to the Cottage Home of America's Champion War Mother

GIVE SEVEN-STAR SERVICE FLAG TO AMERICA'S CHAMPION WAR MOTHER

By Newspaper Enterprise Association
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 24.—A beautiful satin service flag for America's champion war mother, Mrs. Mary J. Wyman of Redwood City, Cal., has been sent to her by two Kentucky girls.
These girls, Miss Mary Cowherd of Louisville, and Miss Mary Rogers of Bowling Green, read the story of how Mrs. Wyman, who had given seven sons to her country's service, was un-

2500 MORE MEN ARRIVE AT CAMP DEVENS—BISHOP LAWRENCE CONFIRMS 20

CAMP DEVENS, June 24.—Through the night and early morning trains pulled up at Davis Crossing yesterday with 2500 recruits from Camp Upton, L. I., and officers and non-coms of the Depot Brigade turned out at daylight to receive them.
It was like coming back home to some of them. They had been here before, having been drawn from New England, sent here, then transferred to Camp Upton and now sent back here to complete their training. They have been in the army from one to three months.
Devens is filled to capacity and today the first men of a draft of 5000 from New England arrive.
The Massachusetts men have been assigned to companies by 1st Lieut. George C. Tait, officer in charge of receiving draftees, as follows:
Depot Brigade, 1st company, Marlboro; 2nd company, Stoneham; Adams, Greenfield; 3d company, North Adams; Athol; Gardner; Fitchburg; Georgetown; 4th company, Leominster; Haverhill; 5th company, Lawrence; 6th company, Tewksbury; Lowell; Pittsfield; Westfield; 7th company, Southbridge; Uxbridge; Chicopee; Holyoke; 8th company, Worcester; 9th company, Northampton; Amherst; Ware; Arlington; Woburn; 10th company, Peabody; Hallowell; Malden; Newburyport; Gloucester; 11th company, Beverly; Swampscott; Salem; Chelsea; 12th company, Springfield; 13th company, Lynn; Everett; 14th company, Boston districts 1-4; 15th company, Boston districts 5-12; 16th company, Boston districts 13-20; 17th company, Boston districts 21-24.

Compares Church to Army
Speaking at this service Bishop Lawrence said:
"A man cannot be a Christian alone without the church any easier than a patriot can fight the nation's battles alone. A man says he is a patriot and wants a gun to fight with. He cannot fight alone very well but must join the army. So must a man join the church to have his Christianity count, for it is through the church that Christ founded that his principles have been impressed on the world."
The hardest load the church has to carry is the men who, being of Christ's church, aren't living in the way worthy of Christian men. The rankest heathen is quickest to get onto this. They overlook 99 men who are reputable church members and see only the hundredth.

"It is true, just the same in the company and the regiment. The one bad soldier is the heaviest burden his comrades have to carry, for unjustly they are judged by his actions.
"God's cause is not going to fail. The man who stands for Christ is going to win out for justice, truth and love. I visited all the camps on the Pacific coast. The spirit is the same in all of them and so it is in the men of America, whatever affiliations they have so long as they are true Americans. And in each camp the men from all sections are being intermingled. The nation is being woven into one fabric of manhood and it is even more noticeable in the army in France.

"So it is with our common Christianity, we are not going to patch religions together, they are going to be welded together by the close associations of Christian brothers."

War Aiding Church Unity
At 10:30 Bishop Lawrence presented as a gift of the diocese to the Base hospital a folding field altar of oak, which was accepted by Lt. Col. Channing Frothingham, commanding. The service was held in the Red Cross house in the hospital group of buildings. After consecrating the altar Bishop Lawrence said:
"Last summer I went to Camp Bartlett to conduct a service. Nobody knew where the service was to be held. There was a service of the Roman Catholic church just finishing, and I asked permission and conducted the service from their altar. So it is necessary, you see, to have a center for religious services. It is a happy thought for a chaplain to have a color guard stationed at the altar during service. When the soldiers come in a Y.M.C.A. hut and see an altar they knew a service is going to be held, and here is a different atmosphere."
"Some of us believe this war is going to draw the churches closer together. Church unity is not coming by patchwork or treaties. It is coming by melting the hearts of the people. The cross is the one token. Religion belongs in the camp, not alone as a comfort for the homesick and those distressed by pain and sickness. Its presence enables those who stand for justice, truth and liberty to fight better."

"An added force in our country which cannot be seen and measured is spiritual force, the spirit of patriotism, the spirit of justice, the spirit of liberty. In the past two years a revival of these spiritual forces has awakened the country. Its progress is beyond this highest hopes of the idealists. This is true also of Christianity."

Florida Recruits Reviewed
The colored soldiers of the cantonment had their first ceremony attracting public attention yesterday, a presentation of a standard of National colors to the 519th Engineers, one of the two service battalions in training here and commanded by Maj. George S. Binckley.
"Presented by the Colored Women on Behalf of the Commonwealth," reads the silver plate inscription on the staff, and it was a group of women headed by Mrs. William Monroe Trotter of Boston that arranged the presentation. These same women have undertaken to act as godmothers for the soldiers after they leave for France. A review on the Engineers' parade ground preceded the color ceremony, and the excellence of the marching of the battalion, which has trained less than three months, brought much favorable comment from officers in the gallery. About 500 friends of the battalion had come to camp for the occasion.

In making the speech of presentation State Treasurer Charles L. Burleigh cited the proud record of negro troops in the Civil war and told stories from France illustrating the fighting qualities of the race. Maj. Binckley accepted for the battalion.
The homes of all except 20 men in this battalion are in Florida, but yesterday they felt the warmth of New England hospitality.

ing vs. the city of Lowell, an action under the workman's compensation act.
The case is being brought by Mrs. Martin Fleming, who seeks to recover compensation for the death of her husband, which she claims occurred while the deceased was engaged in the performance of his duties as a sparrow man. Mr. Fleming was struck by an automobile owned by Fairbairn's market and operated by Jack Bogdonoff in Bridge street Sept. 20, 1917 and died April 14, 1918. The city solicitor contends that the injuries received in the accident were minor and that death was due to an old disease that was not aggravated by the accident. On the other hand the widow claims that death resulted from injuries sustained in the accident. Ten or twelve witnesses were heard and the matter was taken under advisement by Mr. Donahue.

LAWRENCE CHARGES DENIED AT DEVENS

CAMP DEVENS, June 24.—The statement of the director of public safety at Lawrence, that the military police had approached law abiding citizens and had begged them to procure liquor for them, later placing the victims under arrest, if they yielded to the entreaties, was unofficially denied at the camp last night.
It is known that a few months ago the military police did use such tactics in another city and when this was brought up at headquarters the correspondents were told that the practice had been discontinued.

Graduates of St. Patrick's and St. Michael's Parochial Schools Receive Diplomas Four Recently Ordained Priests Celebrated First Masses Yesterday

Graduates of St. Patrick's and St. Michael's parochial schools were awarded their diplomas yesterday and other pupils received certificates of promotion. At St. Patrick's the graduation exercises were held in connection with the high mass at 11 o'clock, while at St. Michael's the exercises were at three in the afternoon.

Four recently ordained priests celebrated their first masses in Greater Lowell yesterday. At St. Peter's church Rev. Edward P. Shea celebrated his first mass at 11 o'clock; Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., celebrated his first local mass at the Immaculate Conception church at the same hour; Rev. Frank J. Riley, S. J., another Lowell boy, was the celebrant of the high mass at St. Patrick's church, and Rev. T. Francis Curry, O.M.I., celebrated his first mass at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, at 10:30.

city, a former altar boy at St. Patrick's church, celebrated his first mass in this city at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. It was a solemn high mass and the celebrant was assisted by Rev. Joseph A. Curran as deacon and Rev. Fr. Carney, S.J., of Boston as sub-deacon. The sanctuary choir, directed by Rev. Bro. Nihil, C.F.X., sang O'Shea's harmonized mass and at the offertory Andrew McCarthy sang Millard's "Jesu, Christe." Graduates of the boys' and girls' parochial schools of the parish were seated in the centre aisle and prior to the sermon they were awarded their diplomas. Rev. E. Osmund, C.F.X., superior of the school, read the names of graduates and Right Rev. William O'Brien, P.R., pastor of the church, presented the diplomas. Rev. Fr. Carney, S.J., delivered the sermon to the graduates and his address was an eloquent demonstration of the advantages and opportunities of a Catholic education. He also congratulated the teachers of the school and Rev. Fr. Riley, S. J. At the close of the mass the latter gave his blessing to several hundreds of the congregation.

The list of graduates was as follows: James Edward Barrett, Melvin Joseph, Cheney, Frederick Edward Conway, Joseph Patrick Flannery, John Joseph McLaughlin, Leo Francis Mitchell, John Francis Nelligan, Raymond Columbus O'Brien, Edward Joseph O'Connor, Martin Joseph Pendergast, James Joseph Reilly, John Joseph Reilly, Benjamin Herbert, Ryan, James Paul Scully, James Arthur Sullivan, John Joseph Ward, Daniel Andrew Whalen.

The following pupils of the grammar department of the boys' school received certificates: Joseph Callahan, Anselm Brady, Walter King, Edward Joseph, Benjamin Murray, Edward O'Connor, Edward Murphy, George Ashe, Edward McDermott, William Burns, Francis Breen, William Managhan, John O'Brien, Leo Dineen, Paul Nerney, William Boyle, Gilbert Hunt, Jeremiah Hanley, William Kennedy, John Cavano, Thomas Lenihan, William Ryan, Paul O'Neil, Robert Desmond, Thomas Stack, Thomas Quinn, Timothy Stapleton, Raymond Connolly, Patrick Lynch, Bernard Keon, Cornelius Sullivan, Francis McMahon.

Diplomas were awarded to the following girls in grammar department: Misses Catherine Ashe, Margaret Ashe, Catherine Burt, Gladys Cronan, Alice Curran, Bath Desmarais, Mildred Dwyer, Elizabeth Clancy, Julia Kealy, Mary Kenney, Versucunda Lawler, Mary LeBlanc, Helen Mahoney, Mary Mahoney, Mary Manning, Anastasia McLaughlin, Aline Morin, Edna Monaghan, Irene Monaghan, Helen O'Gara, Catherine O'Neil, Edith Powers, Helen Regan, Lillian Regan, Anne Rotte, Gertrude Scanlan, Catherine Seward, Alice Sullivan, Mabel Toohy, Mary Wrenn.

Rev. Henry M. Taitan sang the high mass at St. Michael's church yesterday and Rev. Francis Mullin was the preacher. Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, celebrated the 3 o'clock mass. The annual graduation exercises of the parochial school will be held Tuesday afternoon. Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the following graduates received their diplomas:

Thomas Dolan, Edward Sherry, Edward Giblin, Francis White, Richard Blunkhorn, Henry Heaps, Dennis Scanlon, Alfred Kelley, John Dorsey, Harold Dumont, George Brennan, Walter Nugent, Leo Reardon, Paul Shore, Martin Murray, Edward Cullinan, Rose Etta Conlon, Elizabeth Sullivan, Adelaide Williamson, Irene Burns, Mary Dorsey, Mary Rita Burke, Mary Conway, Agnes Riley, Florence Tully, Julia Manning, Kathleen Farrington, Joseph Walsh, Catherine Frelick, Dorothy Johnson, Mary McCormick, Mary King, Gertrude Burke, Eleanor McPadden, Marie Curry, Anna Carroll, Alice Dawson, Catherine Creagan, Lillian Moran, Catherine Holmes, Mary Shea, Grace Dawson, Helen Flanagan, Agnes Neupert, Helen Edwards, and Edith Hibbard. The award was made by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, and at the close benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held.

Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., celebrated his first local mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday. He was assisted by Rev. James J. McCarthy, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. McCarthy, a brother of the celebrant, was master of ceremonies. Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., preached the sermon. Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCarthy, the priest's parents, and a large number of friends and relatives were present. Members of the senior branch of the Children of Mary sodality and the junior branch of the Holy Name society received communion at the 8 o'clock mass. Rev. P. Sullivan, O.M.I., was the celebrant and Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O.M.I., gave out communion. It was announced that the O.M.I. Cadets would hold their annual military mass next Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

Rev. Edward P. Shea, a product of St. Peter's parish, celebrated his first solemn high mass at St. Peter's church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. He was assisted by Rev. Thomas P. Frawley as deacon and Rev. Francis L. Shea as sub-deacon. Rev. Peter Linahan was master of ceremonies and Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan assisted. The sermon was preached by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. A collection was taken up at all the masses for the support of the parish buildings. The girls of the parish received communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass. It was announced that parents who intended to send their children to the parish school next September must register within the next few days as only a limited number of new pupils can be admitted. The school will close next Wednesday. The usual devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart will be held during the week.

Members of the Children of Mary sodality of the Sacred Heart church received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning which was celebrated by Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I., assisted in giving communion by Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I., and Rev. Francis L. Shea as sub-deacon. O.M.I. was the preacher. Annual graduation exercises of the parochial school will be held on Wednesday evening in the school hall at 8 o'clock. After the high mass yesterday an exhibition of work done by the pupils during the year was held.

Rev. Charles J. Galligan, the pastor, celebrated the high mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday. In the afternoon the annual award of Sunday school diplomas was held. The annual award of Sunday school diplomas was held at the parish hall at the Casino. The speaker will include Postmaster Murray of Boston, a brother of Fr. Murray of this parish, and Sergt. Creed, recently returned from France.

Rev. Francis A. McNeil celebrated the high mass at St. Columba's church yesterday and the pastor, Rev. Francis A. McNeil, celebrated the early masses.

The price of seats at masses in all the French churches of the city has been raised from 10 to 15 cents, according to a vote taken at a recent meeting of the pastors. The increase is due to the added cost of maintaining the churches. All the French parochial schools suspended sessions today in honor of the feast of St. Jean Baptiste.

A solemn high mass was celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church yesterday morning in honor of the feast of St. Jean Baptiste. Rev. Aurelien Morill, Jean Baptiste, was the celebrant. Rev. Joseph Boldeu, O.M.I., was deacon and Rev. E. Carrier, sub-deacon. Rev. Louis Bachand, O.M.I., was the preacher. A special musical program was carried out under the direction of L. N. Guilbault. The soloists were Miss Anne Martel, Miss Letitia Daur, Gertrude Robert, and Arthur Lesieur. Vespers were held at 6:30 in the evening and a chorus from St. Joseph's convent sang under the direction of one of the sisters. Dr. Joseph E. Nolet was one of the soloists. Members of St. Therese council of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'America received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. At St. Joseph's church members of St. Anne's sodality received communion at the early mass. Rev. Fr. Baril celebrated the high mass at 10:30 and Rev. Armand Bar-on, O.M.I., was the preacher.

Members of the Sacred Heart league held their quarterly communion at St. Louis church yesterday morning. Rev. Eugene Vincent celebrated the high mass and Rev. F. X. Gauthier was the speaker.

Members of St. Anne's sodality of St. Marie's church held their regular communion yesterday at the early mass. At the 8:30 mass the raising of the parish service flag was held.

PIANO RECITAL YESTERDAY BY GROUP OF PUPILS OF ST. JOSEPH'S CONVENT

A delightful piano recital was given at the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street yesterday afternoon by a group of pupils of St. Joseph's convent. The affair, which proved very enjoyable for the many parents and friends of the young girls, who were present, was given under the direction of the superior of the convent, Sister St. Euphrasie, assisted by Sister Joseph Albert, teacher of piano forte at the school.

In the course of the afternoon a gold medal, donated by the convent and merited by Misses C. Malo, C. Denuall, and I. Grubier, was won by Miss Malo. Another medal merited by Misses A. Chaput, Lea Archambault, and H. Constantineau, was won by Misses Edwards and Edith Hibbard. A prize to be awarded the pupil for the best played piece during the recital, and this was won by Miss Imelda Labrecque. Between the various numbers Hilbard's orchestra furnished music.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT
Auto Hit Team on Mammoth Road—One Man Killed and Another Seriously Injured

As a result of an automobile accident in Mammoth road Saturday night, one man died, another was seriously injured, a horse was injured to such an extent that it had to be shot, while a buggy and an automobile were badly damaged. Victor Larrievie, aged 22, of 36 Mulberry street, Nashua, N. H., was the man killed, and James Hall, also of Nashua, sustained injuries about the head and is now confined to the Lowell Corporation hospital.

The accident occurred shortly after 11 o'clock at a point on Mammoth road known as Ledge hill. The automobile, a light one, owned by the Cudahy Packing Co. of Nashua, driven by Larrievie, and containing three other men, crashed into a buggy owned and driven by John Gondek of a Toman road. In the carriage with Mr. Gondek were his wife and son and daughter. The people riding in the buggy were thrown out, but fortunately escaped with a few scratches. Two of the young men in the automobile escaped without injury, but Larrievie and Hall were badly injured and both were removed in haste to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where Larrievie passed away shortly after his arrival.

Following the accident, the horse was found to be in a pitiable condition with his right forward shoulder crushed and his left shoulder badly torn. Agent Richardson was called and he ended the animal's misery with a bullet. The buggy and the automobile were badly damaged. Larrievie's body was taken to the funeral home of Underhill and Archambault, and Saus and later it was removed to Nashua.

MAJ. ROOSEVELT CITED FOR GALLANTRY

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, June 24. (By The Associated Press)—Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has been cited by the general commanding the troops to which his unit is attached, for "conspicuous gallantry" in action during the operations connected with the capture and subsequent defense of Cantigny.

"During an enemy raid he displayed high qualities of courage and leadership in going forward to supervise in person the action of one of the companies of his battalion, which had been attacked."

"On the day of our attack upon Cantigny, although gassed in the lungs and gassed in the eyes to blindness, Major Roosevelt refused to be removed and retained the command of his battalion under a heavy bombardment throughout the engagement."

Lowell Men Elected Secretary at Carriers' Annual Convention at Worcester

At the 26th annual convention of the Massachusetts State Association of Letter Carriers held at Worcester, Sunday, Maurice H. Powers of this city was unanimously elected secretary of the association.

MAURICE H. POWERS

The convention was called to order at 11 a. m. at the city hall and a big raft of routine business was transacted. At the close of the business session a banquet was held in the chamber of commerce hall and the attendance was the largest in the history of the state association. The speakers at the banquet included Congressman Sam Winslow of Worcester, Calvin D. Page of Fitchburg, Martin B. Madden of Chicago, E. J. Cantwell of Washington, national secretary of the association; National Vice-President

"Not only will they be disappointed," he said, "they will be embittered. All about them they see men and women, skilled and unskilled, receiving advances in wages. They know that theirs is a responsible profession, one worthy of adequate remuneration, but in the past they have not received it, and today it is less adequate than ever before."

"In Lowell, teachers in the elementary schools will soon be receiving $1080 per year, and they are entitled to it. But it is not fair that normal school instructors should receive less. For myself, I have become weary of urging my teachers to be hopeful of

NORMAL SCHOOL

Normal School Principals From Nearly All Schools In State at Conference

Principal Mahoney of the Lowell Normal School Tells of Pay and Conditions Here

Urges Teachers Not to Accept Added Compensation as a Certainty

Commissioner of Education Endorses the Increase in Pay for School Teachers

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 24.—Normal school principals from nearly all the schools in the state were present Saturday at a conference called by Thomas W. White, supervisor of administration, for the purpose of discussing the recommendations contained in the report of the executive council on a proposed standardization of salaries. Principals Aspinwall of Worcester, Murdock of North Adams, and Mahoney of Lowell were among those present.

The report recommends an increase for all Normal school teachers, the average increase being slightly less than 20 per cent.

Principal Mahoney of the Lowell school called attention to the fact that the proposed increases must be approved by the present council before they become effective, and urged that teachers should not accept it as a certainty that they are to get the added compensation. If the council should happen to act adversely on the matter, and he noted that there is evidence of a policy of retrenchment, then the teachers will be bitterly disappointed.

"Not only will they be disappointed," he said, "they will be embittered. All about them they see men and women, skilled and unskilled, receiving advances in wages. They know that theirs is a responsible profession, one worthy of adequate remuneration, but in the past they have not received it, and today it is less adequate than ever before."

"In Lowell, teachers in the elementary schools will soon be receiving $1080 per year, and they are entitled to it. But it is not fair that normal school instructors should receive less. For myself, I have become weary of urging my teachers to be hopeful of dent P. J. McNabb of New York; John S. Foley of Boston, and Bernard J. Curran of Lynn. All of the speakers touched upon matters of importance to association members.

The association consists of 77 branches with a total membership of about 2700. The officers chosen were as follows: Arthur J. Garvey of Worcester, president; Timothy B. McKelvey of Haverhill, vice-president; A. J. McCarthy of Springfield, treasurer; Maurice H. Powers, Lowell, secretary.

The Lowell men present included the delegates, John P. Sheehan and George L. Hunt, and the following: Charles A. Carey, Joseph Ward, Joseph Sullivan, Henry Thomas, Charles Tumulty, David Gillis and James Alister.

The organization annually nominates three men for the position and from these three the governor makes his appointment.

Members of the Ladies' auxiliary, Sons of Veterans, and the Ladies' Relief Corps, No. 75, entertained 150 soldiers at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. Rev. Walter B. Woodbury was the speaker and solos were given by Mrs. C. S. Young, Miss Ethel Harris, Miss Littlefield, Miss Parkhurst and Private Quinn of Camp Devens. Miss Helen Caset gave readings. A luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Narcisse Belanger of 18 Branch street received a telegram Saturday from the war department at Washington, D. C. to the effect that their son, Private Joseph George Belanger of the Machine Gun Battalion in France, died of his wounds May 13. The young soldier was 23 years of age and had been in the army about a year, after serving in the navy about 18 months. He is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Pupils of the Lakeview avenue school held a patriotic pageant at the school recently entitled: "Columbia's Welcome." Representatives from each of the three grades of the school had parts in the production and the affair as a whole was most enjoyable for the parents and friends of the young people who were present. Native costumes added greatly to the brilliancy of the affair. The school orchestra furnished music. At the close of the exercises Miss Allen T. Lee presented the young gardeners of the school with pins and bars sent by the government from Washington.

TEACHERS' PAY

the future, and if an increase is not granted quickly I fear I will lose several of them."

Principal Murdock thought it ridiculous that "teachers who teach prospective teachers" should be paid as little as is paid in certain towns to teachers in the ungraded country schools. "Our instructors," he said, "are aware that they can obtain larger returns for their services in other occupations and professions, and the result of the present ridiculously low salaries is that our staffs are being depleted."

Principal Aspinwall asserted that the proposed schedule does not go far enough. The salaries which it establishes, he said, are as low as should be paid in normal times, and for the present era of high living costs at least 20 per cent more should be added, to remain in effect until the end of the war. "Virtually all private employers," he said, "are regulating salaries to the general war basis now prevailing, and there is no good reason why the same policy should not be followed in the teaching profession."

Payson Smith, commissioner of education, endorsed the increase pay for normal teachers, and urged that a new system should be adopted for fixing the salaries of teachers in general. "Under the existing system," Mr. Smith said, "teachers, the most competent group of workers in the state, and the most valuable to the commonwealth, are dependent as to the amount of their compensation upon the will of political organizations. Whenever one desires an increase in salary, that increase must be passed upon by the city council and the mayor in cities, and by the town officials in towns. However competent these officials may be in other respects, they are seldom competent to pass judgment upon the merits of teachers."

A submarine was sighted at about 4 o'clock one morning and three hours later the signal was given to passengers to put on the life belts. Nothing alarming developed, however, and the passengers were safely landed at Charles town, S. C., the remainder of the journey being made by rail.

Daily Bulletin from War Work Headquarters

119 MERRIMACK STREET

PUBLIC INVITED TO THE OPEN FORUM MEETING, TUESDAY, JUNE 25th, AT HIGH SCHOOL HALL, AT 7.30 P. M.

Dr. Lyman P. Powell Will Speak on His "Personal Impressions of the War Zone."

THE LOGICAL OUTCOME OF THIS DESTRUCTIVE, DEVASTATING, LIFE DESTROYING WAR IS: CO-NATIONALISM—under a league of all nations—but we must FIGHT IT OUT TO A FINISH—to end War for all time. We, all of us, everyone of us, have a great cause to win.

A year and a half ago on the 8th of January, 1917, an idea was put forth in a chain letter as Co-Nationalism and below is the reproduction word for word. How does it look today?

A plan to amalgamate and intermingle fighting forces under sole control of a Supreme Court of all nations, to abolish fortifications, ammunition, war forces on land and sea—except those retained and maintained in a selected number of zones in different parts of the World, by the Supreme Court of all Nations, which shall be established forever and ever to settle International Disputes only.

In an article published by the Saturday Evening Post, Dec. 16, 1916, H. G. Wells prods the indifference of the average man, and pleads for deeper thinking on every man's part, thoughts with purpose and positive results—results to take concrete form in the public mind so that some plan be carried out to prevent war in the future.

If the press would open a correspondence column for suggestions and discussions—the letters might be interesting and would start something—possibly some deeper thinking—some public opinion that might grow to proportions carrying weight. Here-with submitted—a rough suggestion or two—subject to criticism and amendment, as a nucleus for this great and radical change in the world—a beneficial result of the war.

A World's Court—representatives of all nations.

A World's Fleet—all nations to contribute a certain quota and junk the rest—no more national fleets—no submarines—no national construction.

A World's Fighting Force—both for sea and land—so many from each nation—equally represented or proportionate—same to be mixed—equally assorted in each and every locality, of which there shall be a certain number, possibly one in each country or at the nearest seaport. Units to be changed from locality to locality at fixed periods.

Manufacturing plants for ammunition, guns, vessels and all requisites for war, excepting ordinary commodities, to be adjacent to and under control of the World's Court, whose expenses shall be paid by each nation contributing its deputed share.

No arms, ammunition, guns, etc., to be held, manufactured or sold in any country.

Police control; subject to strict ruling as to arms, etc., to be the only force left to any nation.

Representatives to the World's Court, their selection, term of service, and powers is for another chapter, and other chapters would be necessary to arrange for the "machinery," which would not be necessarily cumbersome, but there are no difficulties that cannot be overcome.

The one plain fact today is that the nations and their peoples are ready and willing for just some such radical change in the world's affairs, and the peoples can make it their own affair, will make it their own affair, and what is more, there will be people, if only individuals—not only socialists, laborites and suffragettes—who would report any manufacturing of war material should any breach of the world's agreement be started. It would not be kept secret, and could be suppressed at once.

There would be no occasion for any Monroe Doctrine.

This war shall not be settled by bargains and trades, by individuals and special treaties, by agreements on scraps of paper, between separate governments, emperors, kings, presidents or diplomats, but by the court of the World's Peoples—the World's Nations—"all in one," by one Supreme Power—with sole control of the pooled and surrendered forces of all nations. With power to summon and try all or any of the parties and individuals concerned in this World's War and bring the guilty to Justice.

With power to restore or re-adjust the frontiers and territories, to settle the indemnities, claims, reparation and all international differences.

NOW IS THE TIME—"All in One." One Supreme Power. One Army. One Navy. With sole control of International Affairs.

The trouble with man (the barbarian) was that he was able to take the law into his own hands.

The trouble with clans and tribes was that they were able to resort to force.

The trouble with states was that they were able to oppose each other with military forces.

The trouble with nations is that they are still able to oppose each other with military forces. Surely it has been proven that law and order can only be maintained by submitting differences to a supreme control, with the unified power and force behind it.

Let the nations be good sports—appoint their umpires, referees, judges, accept the decisions without question or interference—play the game. Where necessary, let their amalgamated forces—the only army and the only navy—the "CO-NATIONAL," take control, enforce their decisions and restore order.

Local Exemption Boards Forward 41 Men Who Entrained at 6.15 This Morning—Went Informally to Station

Lowell's four exemption boards sent 41 men to Camp Devens this morning as part of their June contribution to the national service. The men entrained at 6.55 and this is the earliest hour for entrainment that any national army men have yet been called upon to meet in going from this city.

There was a fair-sized crowd at the depot, but nothing in comparison with the numbers one was accustomed to see in the early increment send-offs. Ideal weather with a touch of coolness that helped the new soldiers to go away displaying a lot of "pep" surrounded the affair and aided the spectators to send the boys "away with a smile."

The train made up at the Middlesex street station and was one of the regular passenger trains with a car reserved for the military men.

BOY DROWNED TODAY IN MERRIMACK CANAL

While attempting to recover his "peggy" from the water in the Merrimack canal near the plant of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., Charles Wauman, aged 13 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wauman of 70 Prince street, fell into the water and drowned before assistance reached him.

The boy was playing peggy on the site for the proposed high school in Anne street at about 9.30 o'clock. The peggy rolled into the water near the little canal bridge and Charles walked on the cross beam near the bridge in an attempt to recover the piece of wood. One of the officers of the corporation ordered the little fellow away from the beam, but Charles paid no attention to the order and when he stooped to pick up the peggy he fell in the water. The officer rushed to the boy's assistance, but before he reached the canal bank, the lad had disappeared and did not come to the surface again.

ROME CONFIDENT WAR WILL END SOON IF ALLIES RUSH HELP

Austrian Retreat Has Become a Veritable Rout—Germans Being Rushed to Aid of Austrians

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Confidence at Rome that the war may be brought to a victorious close this year if the allies give the Italians a full measure of support, in the offensive which has been launched against the Austrians, is reflected in official wireless despatches received today from the Italian capital.

These messages say the Austrian retreat across the Piave in which the Italians already have taken 45,000 prisoners has become a veritable rout, but that information from secret sources shows that many divisions of German troops have been detached from the front in France and are being rushed to the aid of the Austrian army.

The Germans are said to be thoroughly awake to the probability of a complete collapse of the Austrian government, already struggling with a half-starved and riotous people, in the event of a complete Austrian rout at the hands of the Italians. Realization of this fact, Rome believes, has caused the German general staff practically to suspend, if not to abandon, its great offensive in France, as has been evidenced by the comparative quiet there for the last week. German soldiers are being rushed by rail to the northern end of the Austro-Italian battle lines with the purpose of restoring the Austrian morale and not only checking the Italian counter attacks, but by force of numbers breaking through the mountain passes into the plains of Venetia.

With such help as the entente armies can give immediately, supplemented as rapidly as transportation can be had by troops directly from America and even more important, by ample military supplies and food for the army, the Italian general staff is reported to be convinced that the victorious sweep of the Italian army will traverse the famous Bainsizza plateau—the scene of the great battles of last fall—and will not stop until the Italians have reclaimed all of the country up to the right bank of the Isonzo, which marked the extreme of General Cadorna's advance.

partment and he will have general supervision over the activities of the organization.

It is planned to have such bureaus as the present housing bureau, labor bureau, and other similar organizations come under the one head of the new organization. Its headquarters will be at the office of the board of trade. Mr. O'Donoghue was empowered to choose his own committee or committees as he sees fit. One of the salient activities of the Department of Bureaus will be the collecting and arranging of data concerning various war needs and problems and having this on file for future or immediate use. It will differ from the war work headquarters in that it will have a more general scope and will be of a less visible nature than the headquarters of office detail and will not be of such a public nature as that of the headquarters.

It is merely another case where combined action under one head has been chosen as the most efficient way in which to carry out war work.

AMERICANS IMPROVE THEIR POSITIONS

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Further improvement of American positions northwest of Chateau-Thierry, is noted in General Pershing's communiqué for yesterday, received today at the war department. Artillery activity and the repulse of an enemy raid in the Vosges, also are reported.

The communiqué follows: "Section A. In spite of opposition we again improved our positions northwest of Chateau-Thierry. In this region, the artillery of both sides continues active. In the Vosges, where patrolling has been very active a raid attempted by the enemy was repulsed. "Section B. There is nothing to report in this section."

RUSSIA AND AUSTRIA EXCHANGE PRISONERS

MOSCOW, Tuesday, June 18.—(By the Associated Press)—An understanding has been reached between Russia and Austria that, pending final agreement regarding the repatriation of war prisoners, able-bodied prisoners may be exchanged immediately. Many insisted upon an exchange head for head, which would be of great advantage to her, as she has the larger number of prisoners who would remain and work in Germany.

JOHN M. O'DONOGHUE

of the important actions of the body was the establishment of an organization to be known as the Department of Bureaus.

The purpose of the new organization is to provide a central source where the activities of the various bureaus of the city already established, or which will be established to take up phases of war work may be combined under one leader. John M. O'Donoghue was appointed chief of the de-

Italians Drive Enemy Back All Along Piave River and From Montello Plateau—Austrians Flee In Disorder—Italian Bombing Units Being Thrown Across Main Stream of Piave—Germans Checked by Italians

Italy's victory over the Austrians on the Piave front appears likely to assume the proportions of a veritable triumph for the Italians and a disaster of great magnitude for the Austrians.

Already, it is announced in official despatches from Rome, the Austrians have lost 45,000 men in prisoners and great quantities of material, while the extent of their other casualties may be indicated by the thousands of bodies floating in the waters of the swollen river.

Enemy In Hasty Withdrawal

Unable to force his way farther than the immediate vicinity of the west bank of the river, and with bridges thrown across the stream swept away by the swirling waters of the flood pouring down from the mountains, the enemy began a precipitate retreat Saturday night. So hasty was his withdrawal that he left a great many cannon on the west bank of the Piave, while his infantry columns, according to news despatches, are already being pressed by Italian detachments thrown over to the easterly side of the stream.

Foe Routed From Montello Plateau

From the Montello plateau, south to the Adriatic retreat, the Piave river formerly emptied into the sea, quiet near Venice, but in recent years its

MILLION TONS OF SHIPS

Will Be Delivered Before the End of the Month—5 Delivered Last Week

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The first million tons of new shipping built on contract for the shipping board probably will be delivered before the end of the month. Last week deliveries totaled five steel vessels, with a deadweight tonnage of 37,830, making the grand total of 1918 production 224,290 deadweight tons.

Deliveries during the first three weeks of June have averaged one ship a day with an aggregate carrying capacity of 125,992 tons. The first of 45 steel vessels to be built in Japan for the shipping board, has arrived in this country and been placed in commission under the American flag. This ship is the Eastern Sun, a cargo carrier of 9066 deadweight tons.

Of 23 steel vessels chartered from Japan by the shipping board, 22 have been delivered on this side of the Pacific. They total approximately 145,000 tons.

ORDERS NEW TRIAL

The Jury In O'Leary Case Dismissed by Judge Hand

NEW YORK, June 24.—Because, it was learned, one of the jurors who has been hearing testimony in the trial of John J. O'Leary, had been under indictment for some time in a federal proceeding, Judge Augustus N. Hand today dismissed the jury and ordered a new trial of the charges against O'Leary, who is accused of having aided his brother, Jeremiah, in an attempt to evade justice.

The defendant has been held in the Tombs under $100,000 bail pending outcome of the case. This was reduced to $10,000, which counsel for the defense said would be furnished. The discovery of the disqualified juror, which nulled the testimony submitted during the two weeks the trial has been in progress, was made by T. R. Feltner, O'Leary's attorney. After a conference with Judge Hand and Earl B. Barnes, assistant district attorney, the dismissal of the jury was ordered.

Urges Invitation to Enemy Countries to Enter Into Peace Negotiations

LONDON, June 24.—Strikers in the various factories at Vienna on Saturday, formulated a demand that the Austrian government show itself ready for a general peace and invite the governments of enemy countries to enter into peace negotiations, says a despatch from The Hague to the Times. Representatives of the workers submitted the plea to Baron Burian, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister.

EXPLOSION WRECKS FLEET SUPPLY SHIP

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Partial destruction by fire of a river boat, used as a fleet supply vessel at an Atlantic port, was reported today to the navy department. An explosion preceded the fire, but no loss of life was reported.

The vessel was the Fenimore, a small sidewheel steamer chartered by the navy.

NATURALIZE 6000 SOLDIERS AT AYER

AYER, June 21.—Federal Judge Jas. M. Norton, Jr., of Boston held court in the Young Men's Christian association auditorium at Camp Devens today and began the work of naturalizing 6000 soldiers who had taken out their first papers before being drafted. Members of the Boston regiment were called first and more than 700 took the oath. Judge Norton will remain here three days.

REPORT BRITISH TRANSPORT SUNK

NEW YORK, June 24.—The British transport Dwinah, formerly a Russian steamer, 8173 tons, is reported in marine circles to have been sunk by a cer of Brookline, who for two years had been annoyed by mysterious telephone calls, telegrams and letters, pleaded not guilty today and was held for a hearing July 4.

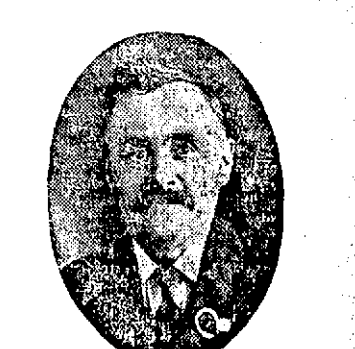

38 SENTENCED

Convicted of Aiding Devens Soldiers to Get Liquor

BOSTON, June 24.—Thirty-eight men, arrested at Fitchburg, Lowell, Lawrence and other places easily reached from Camp Devens, pleaded guilty in federal court today to aiding and abetting in the sale of liquor to soldiers, and were given jail sentences of one year each. The cases of 19 others held on the same charge are under investigation by federal authorities.

From Manchester

Many reports are coming in from many cities in New England. We are today publishing one from Mr. William O. Stiles, of 123 Pleasant street, Manchester, N. H. Mr. Stiles needs no introduction, to the people of New England, he having held many places of trust and also is prominent in secret societies. Mr. Stiles took the Vitalitas treatment for a spring tonic. He says: "While I was not what you would call sick I felt run down and debilitated, so that my blood was in a measure impoverished. I took the Vitalitas treatment to see if it would build me up, and I think it is marvelous how soon it seemed to act on my system. As a tonic I do not think there is a remedy in the world that is the equal of Vitalitas. My appetite improved at once, the tired feeling left me, and I felt that my blood was in much better condition, and I heartily endorse this wonderful remedy."

WILLIAM O. STILES

Vitalitas is sold at the Dows Drug Store, Merrimack square. The public is invited to come and investigate its merits.—Adv.

DIES OF WOUNDS

Rev. W. S. Danker, 104th's Chaplain, First of Cloth to Lose Life

Worcester Soldier Parson Buried Near Spot Where He Fell

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, June 24 (By Associated Press)—Rev. Walter S. Danker of Worcester, Mass., chaplain of the 104th Infantry died on Tuesday from a shell wound. He was buried on Wednesday near the spot where he fell.

Rev. Mr. Danker, the first American chaplain to give his life in the service on the American front, was decorated a month ago along with 116 men for gallantry in the fighting at Apremont last April. Rev. Frederick H. Danker, a Y.M.C.A. worker and a brother of the chaplain, was with him when he died.

The religion he brought to the battlefield was a fighting man's religion; religion with a punch—the sort that was as effective in stiffening the backbone as in comforting the last hours of a dying soldier.

Chaplain Danker has been in the army since 1904 when he was appointed chaplain of the 6th Massachusetts Infantry by Governor Bates. In 1906 he resigned to go to Brooklyn, but returned to this state and was appointed chaplain to the 2d regiment in March, 1909. He remained with the 2d until it was transferred into the 101st Infantry.

Chaplain Danker was 44 years of age. He came of a strong Episcopal family, his father, uncle and brother having been ministers. He was born in Little Falls, N. Y., January 26, 1874, in Little Falls, N. Y., in the Roston Latin school, where he was sergeant major of the 3d battalion; in Trinity college, where he was on the track team and manager of a college paper, and in the General Theological seminary, New York, where again he managed the college sheet.

He studied at the Union Theological seminary in New York, became a member of the Associate mission of Trenton in 1900 and has been associated with churches in Milford, Mass., Brooklyn, N. Y. and Worcester.

Men's affairs were the most attractive of all affairs to the chaplain or the old 2d. He was pre-eminently a man among men, filled by temperament and by inclination for his post.

Military matters were his sole interest outside his pastoral work. His feeling toward the men was the fraternal respect of one man for another. He never failed to appreciate the latent patriotism that showed itself when they enrolled in the militia.

In his recreation as in his work he inclined toward all that appeals to the virile in a man. His prime interest was fishing.

He shared all the small misfortunes or accidents that may fall to the lot of the fisherman. If the joke was on him he would tell the story and get as good a laugh out of it as his hearers.

Few regimental chaplains in the national guard possessed a more interesting personality than Chaplain Danker. His appearance was typical of the army man. Tall and broad of shoulder, his uniform became him well, and he was thoroughly at home on a horse.

His straight gaze and his steady blue eyes attracted men to him, while his handshake was something to be remembered for its heartiness. He never forgot a man whom he became interested in, for which trait many men of the 2d regiment have reason to be thankful.

And so it was that on Sundays when the regiment was in camp, the chaplain's morning service brought the men to his extemporized pulpit in a thoroughly receptive frame of mind—and they got a practical, sensible bit of a speech that was almost more of a friendly talk than a sermon.

SERVICE FLAG UNFURLED

A service flag containing 15 stars was unfurled at St. Marie's church, South Lowell, yesterday morning. The banner was blessed in the church and later patriotic exercises were held around the flagpole on the front lawn of the building.

At 9:30 o'clock a high mass was celebrated by Rev. Charles Denbolt, O.M.I., who also delivered the sermon. At the close of the mass the flag was blessed and later benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held.

At the close of the church service the congregation repaired to the outside, where Mayor Perry D. Thompson, after raising the flag to the top of the mast, addressed the gathering. Other speakers were Rep. Henry Achin, Arthur Paucage and Armand Surprenant, the latter acting as master of ceremonies. The American and French national hymns were sung by a group of young women and (ch event was brought to a close by the singing of "America" by the assembly. The flag was donated to the parish by Branch St. Marie, A.C.F.

TALK OF REVOLT

The German Army and People Discouraged—Never

Speaks of Victory

Returned Travelers Tell of

Unrest — "Won't Stand

This," Says Officer

AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 24.—Germany, war-weary and ill-fed, is in a state of unrest so acute that talk of revolt against the Imperial government is common among both the military and civil populations, according to Americans who arrived here last night on a Norwegian liner, after long residence in Germany or adjacent neutral countries.

Officers and men, the voyagers said, had told them of a sullenness which is widespread in the German army, predicting that it would reach the point where the troops would refuse to fight.

"You see that I wear the coat of the Kaiser; I only wish that you could know the feeling that lies beneath it, for we are not going to stand this forever," a German major told Miss Olga Wursberg of Grand Rapids, according to her story on coming ashore. "The conversation she declared, took place in a hospital at Godesberg, Ger., where the officer talked freely to her, not suspecting that she was an American."

"Why Fight?" Asked Private

Under the same conditions, she declared, a private soldier said to her. "Some day we are all going to put down our arms. Why should we fight?" Our officers now, instead of leading us, go behind us with their guns at our backs."

Miss Wursberg, daughter of Frederick Wursberg, a wealthy Grand Rapids merchant, born in Germany and a naturalized American citizen, declared that the morale throughout Germany is poor and the people near revolt. With her family, who returned with her, she has lived six years in Germany. She asserted that soldiers in the hospitals convalesce very slowly, so poor is the food given them.

Talk Only of Food

Carl E. Olivarius, a Milwaukee lawyer, returned from a trip through Norway, Sweden and Denmark, declared that food is so scarce in these countries that little can be spared Germany. Reporting conversations with travelers from the Teuton empire, he said:

"No one in Germany speaks of victory. They always talk of food. The war, in the minds of the civilian population, has become secondary to efforts to get enough to eat."

Leon Rains of this city, who has resided the past five years in Dresden, declared that Saxony is well supplied with food, but conditions in Berlin and other large cities are "terrible."

LOYALTY MENUS MADE BY GOVERNMENT RULE

BY BIDDY BYE

Menu making is as fascinating as bridge or chess for housewives who have adopted the "without until harvest" slogan and who try to combine their flourless program with Hoover's new ruling about beef.

The following menus conform to all of the latest government rules. No wheat is used in preparing any dish. Beef is provided according to the ration order—1-4 pounds of clear beef in the week for each person or 11-2 pounds of beef with bone. Cottage cheese is used as one of the substitutes for beef.

(Five pounds of clear beef is allowed in these menus for a family of four adults or two adults and three children. Of this the Sunday pot roast takes 3½ pounds and the chopped steak used Thursday takes 11-4 pounds. The beef left over from the Sunday dinner is served on casserole with vegetables Monday.)

SUNDAY

Breakfast: Virginia spoon bread, parsley omelet, coffee.

Dinner: Cream of new peas, pot roast of beef with boiled rice, cucumbers with French dressing, potato custard pie.

Supper: Sandwiches of eye bread with cottage cheese and olive or pickle filling, ice cream, oatmeal wafers, iced tea.

Breakfast: Fruit, oatmeal and cream or top milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Hot rye, corn or raisin bread, lettuce salad dressed with left-over cottage cheese, hot or iced tea.

Dinner: Left-over beef on casserole with potatoes, young carrots, tomatoes, turnips or other vegetables, cold rye-corn-raisin bread, pineapple tapioca.

TUESDAY

Breakfast: Corn cakes, bacon and coffee.

Luncheon: Tuna fish or salmon salad, rice, bread or muffins, tea.

Dinner: Cottage cheese baked with corn or rye bread, new beet salad, potato pudding, tea.

Breakfast: Barley lems, boiled eggs, coffee.

Luncheon: Fish cakes (left over fish cold barley lems and syrup, radishes, tea.

Dinner: Cottage cheese and potato croquettes, pork chop (one each), string beans, coffee gelatin.

THURSDAY

Breakfast: Cornmeal mush and milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Thick vegetable puree, rye gingerbread and tea.

Dinner: Chopped steak balls with tomato sauce, baked potatoes, rice cakes, fruit salad, coffee.

FRIDAY

Breakfast: Rye breakfast cakes, baked eggs, coffee.

Luncheon: Bean or corn soup, oatmeal bread, lettuce with French dressing, tea.

Dinner: Cottage cheese and cornmeal fritters, mixed vegetable salad, potato cake, berries or other fresh fruit, iced tea.

SATURDAY

Breakfast: Fish and potato puff, Johnny cake, coffee.

Luncheon: Poached eggs on lettuce, toasted corn bread, tea.

Dinner: Boiled fish with potato balls and cucumber sauce, cold oatmeal bread, peas or spinach, shredded pineapple.

CARTRIDGE CO. FOREMEN HOLD OUTING

The grounds of the Genoa club in Tyngsboro were yesterday the scene of a happy gathering, the occasion being an outing by the foremen of the United States Cartridge Co., who had as their guests the overseers and executives of the company. A varied list of sports was carried out and a bountiful turkey dinner was served, all present spending a most enjoyable afternoon.

Among the guests present were Mayor Perry D. Thompson, C. Fred Cunningham, assistant general manager; Gerald Cahill, general superintendent; W. J. Robinson, R. A. Wentworth, Lucien Horton and C. C. Sibley, assistant superintendents; H. B. Smith, head of the employment bureau and Chief of Police Martin Conway. The first number on the program was the serving of a turkey dinner, which took place in the clubhouse. The post-prandial exercises consisted of an address of welcome by John F. Kenney, music by the U. S. Cartridge Co. band, address by Mayor Thompson, and vocal selections by Messrs. Waterworth, Gorman, Cusack and McCarthy.

The program of sports included a baseball game between the overseers and foremen, the former winning by a score of 20 to 19. The races were won by the following: Fifty yards, open, McOsker and Connolly; fat men's race, Chamberlain and Rogers; special race between Mayor Thompson and C. Fred Cunningham, won by the latter; married men's race, Fox and Wynne; standing broad jump, Boynton and Wright; running broad jump, Cunningham and DeRoehn; hop, step and jump, Bradley and McOsker.

At the close of the ceremony a reception was held. The bridegroom is the son of Henry W. Barnes, president of the Central Savings bank of this city.

Sylvestre—Cloutier

Mr. Maurice Sylvestre and Miss Amanda Cloutier were married last evening at Notre Dame de Lourdes' rectory by Rev. Leon Lamothe, O.M.I., pastor. The witnesses were Messrs. J. Prudent and William Cloutier.

Paquette—Duplessis

Mr. Joseph E. Paquette and Miss Marie Rose A. Duplessis were united in marriage at St. Joseph's rectory yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Athanasius Marion, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. George Paquette and Philippe Morrisette.

Horlink—Cooperstein

Mr. Sam Horlink of this city and Miss Gertrude Cooperstein of Chelsea were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom, 74 Lincoln street, the officiating clergyman being Rabbi Elias Wolfson. The bride was attended by Miss Hattie Horlink, a sister of the groom, while the best man was Philip Potter of Nashua, N. H. The bride party entered the parlor to the sweet strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by a nephew of the groom, Mr. George Myers. The bride wore white satin with pearl trimmings, and a veil caught up with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bridal roses. The bridesmaid was attired in blue satin and carried pink roses. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held, present at the festivities being guests from Boston, Dorchester, Nashua, Brighton, Lawrence and Haverhill.

After July 15 the couple will make their home at 74 Lincoln street. The ushers at the wedding were Messrs. Bennett Levinson of Dorchester and Bennett Myers of this city.

Martineau—Marchand

A pretty marriage took place this morning when Mr. David Martineau and Miss Corinne E. Marchand were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a private nuptial mass celebrated at St. Joseph's rectory at 7 o'clock by Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I. The bride wore white crepe de chine with veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The witnesses were Messrs. David Martineau and Eddie Chaput. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom, 109 Aiken avenue. The happy couple left later on an extended honeymoon trip.

Carey—Donovan

Sergt. Lawrence M. Carey, 304 Ambulance company, Camp Devens, and Miss R. H. Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Donovan, of 23 Lynden street, Concord, N. H., were married yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church, Ayer, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. McGinn. The bridesmaid was Miss Kathleen O'Heir, while the best man was Private Thomas McCarthy of Camp Devens. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Carey of North Andover.

ROGERS HALL ATHLETIC CLUB WILL FORMALLY OPEN TOMORROW EVENING

The Rogers Hall Athletic club for the young women of this city which is being conducted under the auspices of the local Y.M.C.A. will open formally tomorrow evening for the summer's work. An interesting program has been planned for the entertainment of the members of the club; among the evening's artists will be Mr. Vioh, soloist; Miss Helen Barr, a graduate of the school and a splendid singer, and Miss Helen Casey, reader. Exercises will be held in the gymnasium.

There will be an opportunity to inspect the swimming pool and experienced swimmers will be on hand to demonstrate its splendors.

There are still a number of vacancies for the Wednesday afternoon high school division of the club and also the Tuesday and Friday grade school divisions. Members who have signed up but who have not yet paid their membership dues are asked to do so tomorrow evening. There will be physical examinations every afternoon and evening this week with the exception of Tuesday and all members are requested to have their examination some time during the week.

ZONE SYSTEM CAUSES LITTLE CONFUSION

The much anticipated new zone system of collecting fares on the Bay State Street Railway company's lines in this city went into effect this morning with very little confusion, according to Supt. Thomas Lees. Regular commuters in many cases had made a study of the new scale of fare rates as it would affect them individually, while others left the whole matter up to the conductor. The conductors had been issued their book of instructions previously and those with regular lines had time to make a thorough study of the new regulations, particularly as they would affect the lines on which they were working. The result was that comparative smoothness reigned all around.

On some lines passengers considered the new rates a little stiff, as on the Chelmsford Centre route where a 100 per cent. increase is brought about as a result of the zone system. The fare from Merrimack square to the centre or from the centre to Merrimack square is now 12 cents whereas it formerly was but six.

Suburban patrons are hit hardest by the new fare rates but on the whole the system is on a more suitable basis than previously and it is a case of being for the greatest good of the greatest number and incidentally for Old Bill Bay State.

The sale of ticket books was brisk during the early morning hours and continued with more or less force throughout the day. These books may be secured at the waiting room in the square.

Synchronous with the introduction of the new fare system on the Chelmsford line there was also inaugurated the pay-as-you-leave system of fare collections. This is like the system now in vogue on the Westford street line.

A new schedule of running time for the Nashua line has been adopted. Trips will be made hourly from 6.35 a. m. to 10.35 p. m. Formerly the cars on this line left at 45 minutes past the hour.

The Bon Marche

Reflections:

Suppose some business friends are to visit your home. Will they change their opinion of you, after the visit, or will you gain by it?

Is your home in good repair? Are your walls newly decorated?

Wall paper will do more to beautify the home than anything else. It forms a background for all other things. It emphasizes woodwork and furniture. It blends with rugs and draperies. Wall paper emits a warmth, a cheer, that will bring joy to you.

Folks are judged not only by actions, but by how they live and the kind of a home they live in. Make your home a cheerful and cozy place to live in, as well as a business asset. Let us help you gain prestige and friends.

Think it over.

REALISTIC WARFARE AT CAMP DEVENS

AYER, June 24.—A bit of realistic warfare under the direction of officers of the French army was accorded members of the 301st engineers at Camp Devens, today. "German sappers" tunneled a mine under an "American trench for 100 feet, 20 feet below the surface of the ground. A ton and a half of dynamite was touched off by the "Germans." The minute the mine blew up, wiping out the trench, "American" infantry rushed the crater and annihilated the "Boches" before they could take advantage of their feat.

SECOND IN FORUM SERIES MEETINGS

It is expected that there will be a capacity audience in high school hall tomorrow evening when the second of a series of six forum meetings will be held under the auspices of the New England Congress of Forums. These meetings are designed to bring before the public well informed speakers to discuss various phases of the war.

Tomorrow evening, Dr. Lyman P. Powell, president of Hobart college of New York, will be the speaker and his topic will be, "Personal Impressions of the War Zone." The meeting will be called at 7.30 and Hugh J. Molloy will preside. Admission is free and no tickets are required.

As vice president of the Association of American Colleges, Dr. Powell has recently returned from a study of educational, moral and other conditions of the war zone. In England he was the guest of the various universities. In France he had the co-operation of the leading educators, editors and statesmen, and was the guest of honor of the French government, which sent him throughout the devastated region and to the western front with military guides and armed guards, to study conditions first hand. In addition to other matters, he observed the work of the Red Cross and Y.M.C.A. and since his return, three months ago, he has spoken over one hundred and fifty times in the interest of these various causes.

Dr. Powell was educated at the University of Wisconsin, the University of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Theological seminary. As a visitor at the front, he had a series of thrilling and interesting experiences, being at the centre of the worst of all the London air raids and seeing the bombing of the larger French cities. Since his return from Europe, he has spoken in some twenty different states for the Red Cross, the councils of defense, the committee on church and the moral aims of the war, etc. He makes a special plea to think of nothing but the war, to stand behind the government, to prepare to rebuild and re-educate a world once it is redeemed from pre-primitive autocracy.

GRADUATES OF ST. MICHAEL'S PAROCHIAL SCHOOL HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Graduates of the seventh and eighth grades of St. Michael's parochial school held their annual outing today at the Knights of Columbus grounds in Tyngsboro. A special car left Lowell at 8.30 this morning filled with the youngsters. The affair was in general charge of the sisters of the school. The day was given over to sporting events and the enjoyment of the various facilities at the grounds. The young people will return early this evening.

boys in the garb of various branches of the national service. Schyllie's "Toy Symphony" was the opening number of the program. The following pupils of the music class gave it: Pianists, B. McAdams, A. McQuada, M. Flanagan; violins, K. Riley, R. Booth, E. Martin, B. Riley; flute, D. Martin, cello, M. Quinn.

The Junior boys gave a song, "The Broomstick Cavalry," in an enjoyable manner and were followed by the kindergarten children in a song and recitation, "The Captain."

"An Evening in Fairyland" was one of the prettiest features of the evening. The principals were M. Lynch and M. Luppold. "Little Grandmas" was also well given with M. McEhan in the leading role.

Senior pupils gave a patriotic medley, "Columbia Flag Drill," with a lot of snap that was very enjoyable.

Four medals for scholarship and good character, donated by Miss Annabelle Costello in memory of her brother, the late Rev. George A. Costello, were presented to Mary Lynch, Louise Pellard, William E. Dooley and Charles J. Garvey.

Mary E. Farley was the valedictorian and her address was unusually good. Rev. Lawrence E. Tighe, O.M.I., the pastor of the church, spoke at length to the graduates.

The list of graduates was as follows:

Agnes Delaney Burns, Christina Cecilia Brick, Esther Florence Purrows, Rose Anna Carey, Evelyn Mary Durkin, Mary Ellen Evelyn Farley, Mabel Frances Hansbury, Kathryn Marie Higgins, Anna Mabel Hogan, Agnes Kelley, Mary Lynch, Catherine Louise Lavery, Katherine Anna McMahon, Margaret A. McGrogan, Beatrice Mary McNeill, Anna Rita McMillan, Barbara McAdams, Julia Gladys Murphy, Loretta Mary McMahon, Mary Josephine Quinn, Louise Pellard, Catherine Veranda Quinn, Mary Elizabeth Quinn, Agnes Reardon, William Joseph Brown, James Francis Brown, Francis Bernard Curran, Thomas Cahill, William Xavier Connor, Leonard James Crann, William Edmund Dooley, Geo. Leonard Duggan, Charles Justin Garvey, Lawrence Patrick Kane, Bernard James Luppold, Charles Edward McGovern, William Francis McNamara, James O'Donnell, John Joseph Quinn, Thomas Francis Roddy, John Joseph Thynne, Stephen Thomas Wyman.

LOWELL MAN APPOINTED BANK EXAMINER

W. Norman Scott of 732 Stevens st. has been appointed assistant national bank examiner for New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts by the comptroller of currency, and he will assume his new duties on July 1.

Mr. Scott has had considerable experience in banking business and only recently resigned a position with a local bank to accept a place with the C. B. Coburn Co. He is a very capable, aggressive and conscientious worker and his many friends, including his present and past employers, are elated over his appointment to such an important position. Mr. Scott's official headquarters will be at Manchester, N. H., but he will continue to reside in Lowell.

boards called the registrants in today's quota for final instructions and this morning the men assembled at the board headquarters for the last time. They then went informally to the railroad station, said good-byes and were soon speeding on their way "up there." At Camp Devens they were assigned to the depot brigade.

With one exception the soldiers who went away this morning were from Lowell. Division 1 board sent Luke A. Woodbury of Providence, R. I., to Camp Devens. He was transferred from Division 1 board of the latter city to the local board. He is a brother of Rev. Walter A. Woodbury, pastor of the Worthen Street Baptist church of this city.

LOWELL BOY PROMOTED IN HONOLULU

Lieut. Edward P. Neelon, a Lowell boy, has had the unique honor of being commissioned a lieutenant while serving Uncle Sam in distant Honolulu. He is a member of the regular army forces and after receiving his commission was transferred to Camp Gordon, Ga., for service with the National army there.

Lieut. Neelon is a nephew of Mrs. Patrick Ryan of 48 Birch street and was brought up by Mrs. Ryan. He enlisted in the regular army three years ago and since then has spent most of his time in Honolulu. Recently he was informed that he had been commissioned a lieutenant and this honor comes after three years of work and training with steady advancement.

He is a graduate of the Moody grammar school, Lowell high school and attended Holy Cross Prep. school. He spent the week-end with his aunt and left for Camp Gordon late Saturday. During his short leave of absence he was tendered a reception and banquet by a number of his friends at the new Chinese restaurant and he told many interesting stories of army life at the time.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note.—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
There is much to praise in the Paramount production of "Tyrant Fear," with Dorothy Dalton as the star, at the B. F. Keith theatre, the first half of the present week, beginning this afternoon. It is, at once, a panorama of rugged life in the Canadian northwest, and a study in feminine psychology, deep and subtle. Fancy a girl like "Allaine Grandet," the victim of a nameless fear, born of the brutality of the monsters, who held her in a state of supine subjection to their every whim! Fancy her being sold as a mere chattel by an inhuman father to a more brutal trapper, a primal beast whose sole desire is to prove to this shrinking girl that he is her lord and master! This was the situation in which Allaine found herself when she was taken to the cabin of "Latour," her husband in the northern wilds, half buried in the snow. She endures the vile treatment uncomplainingly like a dumb animal, because her soul is held in a vice-like grip of prenatal fear. Even when Latour gambles with her, not keeper of the dance hall, with her as a stake and loses her, she makes no protest against the shame that is to be her's once she becomes an inmate of Dermot's den. She follows her new master docilely, for the fear that masters her, holds her completely in subjection to the despotic rule under which she writhes and lives. When she emerges from the Arctic night into the garish interior of Dermot's den, crowded with a motley crew, she is interested only because the pretty costumes of the women please her. All the while she wards off mechanically the brutes who come to her. But one day she has a hard struggle with a miner, and there comes to her assistance Harley Dane, the pianist in the dance hall, a man of education who has gone down through dissipation. A friendship comes and it ripens into love, although Dane is not aware that Allaine has a husband. But his nature undergoes a transformation. There are successive steps after this, in one of which Allaine shoots Dermot to protect herself. And, as soon as she does this, she has mastered fear and controls herself. The remainder of the story has much strength. Miss Dalton has the role of "Allaine," and does wonders with it.

HAD NERVOUS INDIGESTION

This Springfield Woman Found Quick Relief When She Used the Tonic Treatment

Many American people suffer from nervous indigestion. Worry, a deep grief, overwork, lack of exercise or a general run-down condition of the system will cause it. Among school children overstudy and confinement in badly ventilated rooms will bring it on. It is a disease of the nerves rather than of the digestive organs and is corrected by giving needed nourishment to the nervous system by building up the blood. This is the tonic treatment and its good effects are seen in the case of Mrs. S. Lewis, of 160 College street, Springfield, Mass. She says:

"I had nervous indigestion for about four years. I first noticed that I was losing flesh and felt miserable much of the time. I had severe nervous spells. I suffered from pain after eating, especially in my left side. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommended in the papers and gave them a trial. I noticed improvement while I was taking the first box and took four boxes altogether. I can truthfully say that the pills have certainly helped my stomach and that I feel better than I have in a long time and I shall use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills whenever I need a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for nervous people because they are non-alcoholic and nervous patients should avoid alcoholic stimulants.

The treatment consists largely in rest, recreation and the use of the tonic, the discontinuance of any practice that may have caused the trouble and abstinence from tea, coffee and stimulants. As the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood the latter must be built up and made rich and pure. Especially if there is loss of weight and pallor indicating a weakness of the blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are best adapted.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.—Adv.

While among the other players are Thurston Hall, Melbourn McDowell and William Conklin.

The second feature is "High Stakes," with J. Barney Sherry in the role of a master crackman. Scotland Yard is famous for the traps it sets to capture the cunning criminals of the continent. This famous institution has battled plots against kings, robberies planned against the Bank of England, and international conspiracies. But all the craft and cunning of the detectives prove useless against the amazing genius of Ralph Stanning in "High Stakes." It is a thrilling picture. A comedy and the Hearst-Pathe News pictures will be shown on this same bill.

THE STRAND
"Lend Me Your Name," a six-part rapid fire farce comedy, replete with perplexing complications, with Harold Lockwood playing the dual role of an earl and a burglar, is one of the good things on the bill at The Strand for the first three days of the week, commencing with matinee today. It's the amazing adventures of a man and his double and it offers Lockwood wonderful opportunity to portray his unusual ability.

Miss June Elvidge, Lowell's biggest

film favorite in "A Woman of Redemption" is to be the other feature. Miss Elvidge is supported by John Bowers and a competent cast. The story tells of the manner in which an unsophisticated girl of the mountains redeems a young man who has been extremely dissolute. The redemption occurs only after a great many extremely exciting events in which the girl's brains and courage stand her and the young man in good stead.

It is an unusual picture in many respects; first, because it marks the entrance of Bernard Macfadden into the motion picture field. Mr. Macfadden is a noted physical culturist of New York City and heretofore all his energies have been concentrated on the spreading of his beliefs that clean living, well regulated eating and plenty of exercise make for the perfect existence. This might lead one to the conclusion that "Zongar" is an untimely propaganda picture, but such is far from being the case. Its chief protagonist is a young man of sound habits and the story unfolds in a number of thrilling and sensational episodes the manner in which this type of manhood triumphs over all opposing forces. George Larkin, known by his many feats of daring in past pictures, is given a great number of opportunities to exercise his astounding ability along this line in "Zongar." There is thrill after thrill in which he is the center of attraction and of dull moments there are none in the entire five reels.

And the added attraction is no less important for, it brings Charlotte, the famous New York ice skater, in her first picture offering, "The Frozen Warning," a magnificent five-act photoplay of international intrigue, and love,—space forbids us telling of the wonders in this picture, but you should not miss it, which is its best recommendation. There a Big-V comedy and others will complete a most satisfying picture show. Usual price.

LAKEVIEW PARK
Did you ever try Lakeview in the afternoon, when there were plenty of people so that there's plenty of company, but not too much to crowd you? That peerless park is at its best, then, but, big crowd or little crowd, Harry Kittredge's men know how to serve you so that you get the maximum of pleasure with a minimum of expense, and Miner-Doyle's 10 musicians make your feet itch to glide over the waxen floor and Barney Horan's megaphone solos put wings on your feet. Try this afternoon or tonight and all this week—and ride from your home—it doesn't cost any more.

THE KASINO
Accessible—that's one thing in the Kasino's favor these days of high costs. There are many other attributes which might be mentioned that make the Kasino a high class amusement resort, but we'll give you opportunity for a personal Kasino experience. That's the way to learn. TO ALL WOMEN WHO ARE ILL

This Woman Recommends
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Personal Experience.

McLean, Neb.—"I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all women who suffer from any functional disturbance, as it has done me more good than all the doctor's medicine. Since taking it I have a fine healthy baby girl and have gained in health and strength. My husband and I both praise your medicine to all suffering women."—Mrs. JOHN KOPPELMANN, R. No. 1, McLean, Nebraska.

This famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has been restoring women of America to health for more than forty years and it will well pay any woman who suffers from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues" to give this successful remedy a trial.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEPORT THE ANARCHISTS

Congress is about to pass a bill for the deportation of alien anarchists. Better late than never. The Sun for years has contended that the moment any man admits that he is an anarchist he should be deprived of his liberty because he thereby declares that he is an enemy of all government and of organized society.

If such an individual be an alien he should be deported at once; if a native of the United States, he should be jailed for his natural life or until he decides to become a law-abiding citizen.

THE ITALIAN VICTORY

After the German drive on the western front has been practically held, it is glorious news to find that Italy has completely routed the Austrian drive by which the Kaiser expected to put Italy out of the struggle and force an early peace on the German plan.

Again have the plans of the war lords of Germany been foiled and again has fresh inspiration been offered to the Allies.

It seems that the enemy forces and the peoples behind them are everywhere war-weary, demoralized and almost starved so that when the United States forces get into the conflict with full strength they will have but to deliver the knock-out blow to the enemy.

The rapid transportation of nearly a million soldiers to Europe has changed the situation at the front and will soon turn the scales in favor of the Allies which are supposed to have 7,000,000 men in action holding the various fronts against an equal number, but without the power to move possessed by the enemy operating on the inner circle.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM

There are a great many people outside Lowell who would like to come here to earn good wages during the war and at the same time have the government provide them fine dwellings almost rent free. Against any such imposition the government will doubtless take care of itself.

If new buildings are to be erected here for the munition workers, it would be well to hold the number to the minimum necessary to accommodate only those families and individuals who cannot find comfortable quarters.

It is to be remembered also that as a result of the increase in car fares which falls heavily upon suburban residents, if any large number of dwellings were built here by the government and offered below the prevailing rents, many of the suburbanites would rent them for the period of the war and then move back to their homes in the adjoining towns. That would leave these new houses vacant and a drag on the local real estate market.

The housing problem is, therefore, one that has to be very carefully considered in order that while helping the munition workers nothing may be done to injure our city or the general taxpayers.

NOTE THE CASUALTY LIST

Have you noticed our casualty list recently? Do you realize that nearly 3,300 of our boys have been killed or wounded or captured by the Hun? Deaths in action and from wounds and accidents amount to more than 3,300. The list grows with the days, and will grow the more quickly as the number of the boys in action increases.

The casualty list makes you more readily understand, perhaps, why the government and those humanitarian agencies connected with war work call incessantly for financial support. Funds are needed to keep our men equipped, to keep them properly fed, to keep them cheered up—to give them everything they should have and as quickly as possible, so that the casualty list may not be increased because of the lack of anything. And do not forget that the number of men who must be provided for, increases each day, which means the need of more and more support from you.

You are now asked to pledge yourself to save to the utmost of your ability and to buy War Savings stamps that there may be more money, labor and materials with which to back up those who fight and die for you. When you do this be sure to remember that in being allowed to do it you are granted a great favor. Others give their lives.

The government needs money to win the war and money in vast amounts.

That Liberty Loans we have passed were but mere child's play compared to what is to come as the war progresses. The war loans come periodically, but the taxes regularly every year, taxes by the city, by the state, and by the nation.

These demands will come quite frequently and between the Liberty Loan drives will be sandwiched others for the Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A. and the K. of C.

Thus it appears that the demands made upon the people for money will be almost continuous. For this reason it is all important that the industries of the country be maintained in a state of prosperity. Otherwise the people cannot meet the demands of the war in a manner that will give the government the money it needs.

It is needless to say that a shortage of coal would play havoc with nearly all industries; and next to that comes a shortage of labor. The government can help to prevent both. In some cases the draft of war funds and government competition may force certain essential industries to the wall financially. In such cases it would be only fair for the government to advance financial aid so as to prevent failures that would bring harmful consequences.

UNJUST ATTACK ON AUSTRIA

Congressman Kenyon of Iowa made a very bitter attack upon Austria in the national house the other day, representing her as the "beast" for whose existence as a separate entity there is no excuse. He seemed to attribute to Austria the same brutal instincts and disregard of all laws human and divine that Germany has exhibited since the very beginning of the war. Austria's chief offense against humanity and civilization in this war consists in the fact that she is the ally of Germany and far too pliantly following the orders of the German war lords.

Austria of her own volition has not revealed in cruelty, immorality and debauchery such as Germany has displayed wherever she went and of which she seemed to take especial pride. It is not good policy for a congressman or a newspaper in this or any allied country to give expression to such sentiments as those of Mr. Kenyon.

We intend to treat Austria with the greatest kindness and consideration the moment she cuts loose from the alliance that makes her the vassal of Germany. If Germany considers treaties but scraps of paper, Austria should not be bound by a whole bundle of paper. It is true that Austria started the war, but Germany was the instigator behind the scenes and the cause of its spread to other powers. The condition of Austria at the present time seems to be one of general exhaustion and distress, and unless there is an early change for the better, she will be able to do but very little fighting. She is already reported to be making peace overtures to France, in hopes that the latter will agree to drop out with Austria; but it appears that Germany wants to be a party to any peace arrangement to be made.

For all these reasons, we deem it highly injudicious for any congressman to make an unjust attack upon Austria calculated to show popular indignation against her on account of anything she has done since the war started. As compared with the foul deeds of Germany, those of Austria are mild and much more in line with the customs of civilized warfare.

SAVING OUR PRISONERS

Of all the allied nations fighting against the forces of the Hun, only one thus far has given the bully of Europe the medicine which will stop his torture of prisoners of war. That country is France.

There was a time when Germany ill-treated French captives. They starved them. They stole parcels French people sent into Germany for their captured soldiers. They beat them. They forced them to labor long hours in death-bringing conditions. They murdered them.

And Germany laughed at French pleas to exchange prisoners. For Germany was grinding the blood and life out of prisoners in her camps while Germans held in French prison camps were well fed. Germany did not want to send her captives back until she had wrung the last ounce of toil out of them and made them unfit for further war duty.

Then it was that France began her program of reprisals. When the Germans served "soup like bill-stickers" paste" to Frenchmen the French procured the recipe and supplied a similar fluid to the Germans in their prisons. When the German government "lost" Frenchmen's parcels and offered no satisfaction the French stopped the parcels for German prisoners—and cut down their rations.

In that way France convinced the Huns that French prisoners must be treated as human beings. Then Germany agreed to exchange prisoners with France.

But Germany continues her horribly cruel treatment of British prisoners.

Great Britain thus far has refused to put into execution the program of reprisal which would protect her men in German camps more surely than anything else. This mistake, though, is in a fair way to be corrected. The British public demands a general exchange of prisoners and a program of exact measure for measure "medicine" for German prisoners.

Few American prisoners are in German camps. More will be there. There have been well authenticated charges of mistreatment of our boys. These indicate that the Germans are abusing our boys more shamefully than the prisoners of any other country.

We have the cure for that—reprisals. You can't persuade a vicious brute by argument, kind treatment or nice words. You can kick him off his prey, and you can beat him into submission. He doesn't understand any other treatment. Anything else he considers cowardice and is an encouragement to greater cruelty.

The American government may already have taken steps which will bring about a general exchange of American and German prisoners. If it has not, an immediate effort should be made. In the meantime, and to bring Germany to an early compliance, a rigid plan of reprisals should be put into execution. President Wilson could scarcely be brought to adopt such a policy, as he doubtless foresees the time when Germany will cease to capture any prisoners and when even Americans will not dare to ill-treat Americans. But our government will not tolerate any cruel treatment of American prisoners without adopting drastic measures to bring Germany to a sense of her responsibility, whether those measures involve reprisals or a more vigorous policy of getting into the heart of Germany.

SEEN AND HEARD

A fellow takes awful chances when he tells the barber he's in a hurry.

You may say what you will, but an evening in the country is generally pretty well spent.

A 15-year-old Pittsfield girl declined to assist a family in doing housework when she learned that there was no piano in the house that she could use for practicing her musical lessons.

A Feast Five Days Away

"Can you give a hungry man something to eat?" said a knight of the road to a lady who answered his knock at a home on Crescent street Monday.

"Surely," said the woman, "do you like fish?" "Fish?" exclaimed the wayfarer, "if there is anything I do like it is fish." "All right," replied the woman, "come around Friday."—Rockland Independent.

And the Pastor Chuckled

At a recent Hingham wedding there was one incident that proved amusing for the mistaken party who figured in it. The ceremony at the bride's home over a rush was made for the waiting auto by someone from the house. Hurriedly the crowd surrounded that conveyance and decorated it with signs, even to flowing ribbons. The serenaders followed the automobile it reached its destination on another street. And who do you suppose stepped out? The marrying clergyman!

Some Big Catches

Anglers on the coast of Florida often catch sharks weighing 150 pounds with a 16 ounce rod. On the California coast, too, huge sharks, 12 feet or 15 feet long are bagged. Occasionally a tartar is caught which ends the business by smashing not only the line but the boat. The gentlemen anglers of the California coast actually have a challenge cup for the biggest swordfish caught in the course of the season. The record is a fish 150 pounds in weight, and the sport is described as about as exciting as tiger hunting.

Peculiar Forms of Currency

Before the mechanism of exchange between the countries was firmly established and before the development of trade by rail and water, it was necessary to use other means of payment. In Abyssinia rings and other objects of decoration were used as a medium of exchange. Fish were used in Newfoundland; Marco Polo states that porcelain was adopted in Asia; Humboldt remembers when cocoa took the place of money in Mexico. In the colonial days in the United States tobacco was used in Virginia and furs in the Hudson Bay district, while in Scotland snails were employed for the payment of purchases.

swimming, and not flying, is in appearance more like a turtle than a bird. His short legs are placed far backward. When standing, he must be straight up and down to keep his balance, with the centre of gravity immediately above the base of support. Wading birds with featherless legs have webbed feet, enabling them to shift their centres of gravity whether wading, diving or swimming. The webs between the toes, as in water spaniel dogs and retrievers, form ears, such as no human has been able to imitate.

Proof of the Pudding

The other day, we saw a tire company automobile all painted up in a noisy color advertising their make of tires. All tires guaranteed Hand-made and warranted 5000 miles, the best tire with that send off, it must be some tire we figured, and looked at the tires of the auto to see what they looked like. But they weren't their famous make of tires, and on the back there were two spare tires, and they also weren't their wonderful Hand-made tires. (No!) Naturally, think if they were making tires and bragging what great tires they are, they'd surely have their own auto. Outfitted in them instead of rigging the bus up in another make of tire, huh? It's the old game.

The millionaire stogie-maker smoking two-bit Havanas, and the vest-pocket Automaker driving around in a twin-six limousine.

Nagging Always Evils

Nobody minds a word of advice and encouragement. It's the nagging at every turn that puts the North pole around people's hearts. And this chilling process some times breaks forth in volcanic eruption that makes both vocal and animal temperature rise. And when it's all said what good has been done? In spite of your concern and growls, a great many people follow their own council anyway. Your insistent advice only serves to keep matters in an uproar. It will be infinitely better for everybody if you will take a graduate course somewhere that will be commensurate with your dignity and stiff enough to keep you too busy to become a meddler.

Two Things Indispensable

"We must have something to eat and the papers to read. Everything else we can give up. . . If we live in a small way, there are at least new dresses and bonnets and everyday luxuries which we can dispense with. If the young zovave of the family looks smart in his new uniform its respectable head is content, though he himself grow seedy as a caraway-umbel late in the season. He will cheerfully calm the perturbed nap of his old beaver by patient brushing in the place of buying a new one, if only the lieutenant's jaunty cap is what it should be. We all take a pride in sharing the epidemic economy of the time. Only bread and the newspaper we must have, whatever else we do without."—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Individual Expression

If we said it once, we said it a hundred times as we wore out our American shoes on the hard white roads of England, and caught glimpses through the hedgerows of the old English cottages. Why can't we in America build houses that look more homelike? Why can't we give the hours on our suburban roads and country lanes more of this English look of always having been there? It seems altogether illogical that an English house of the olden time, where the food was served from the remote kitchen through the colling process of a long hall, and where a single staircase had to suffice for all purposes, should show to the world a look of comfort and well ordered living, while our convenient kitchen and serving pantry, our front and back stairs, our well-planned living-room, dining-room and bedrooms show

Coal Bulletin No. 9

We opened our John Street and Gorham Street offices for business last Tuesday. Up to Saturday night we had taken orders for more than ONE THOUSAND tons of anthracite coal and subscriptions for shares ran over FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS. Those subscriptions came in 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 50 and 100 share lots.

For this splendid response to our public partnership plan we thank you heartily.

There are hundreds of people in the city who are going to take some shares. To you we say, "Do it at once!" Pretty soon there will be a big rush and shares will all be gone. Don't blame us if you fail to get in. We invite the closest scrutiny and investigation of our method of conducting the coal business. IT'S AS STRONG AS THE ROCK OF GIBRALTAR. Call at either office and please remember that we want you as a member of our big family and you can take one, two or five shares or any number up to one hundred.

Washing Sheep in Vermont

There's folks that look like other folks, And things germane to other things; There's jokes that jibe with other jokes, And kings as punk as other kings; There's one thing, though, that's plural to a unique— Look up that word before you sleep— There never was and never will be just such a thing as washing sheep.

Of course, the sheep have gone, because—

I don't know why—I wish I did— But I'm a-telling how it was When I was just a Windsor kid; Full records of them tow-head days Inside my memory box I keep; I know there never was or will be just such a thing as washing sheep.

You first have got to find a brook, Right straight beside the road, that makes

A deep-hole turn, and then you look For wickets and hemlock boards and stakes;

With them you build two rough house-yards Each side the brook, just where it's deep—

It takes a lot of work and what not To set the stage for washing sheep.

Next day all hands start off at four— For Build Hill pasture; six o'clock Locates you out in Goshen Gore—

A-shaking salt and hollering "Jock," And then we kick the flocks through the bars, And "long the road begins to creep; It's ten or after when you're ready To laundelize the lovely sheep.

The washer, he's the one that's boss, Stands facing up-stream, like a trout;

We boys, we poke the sheep across To Jordan's strand as they come out; The way they wabble, though, and blat Would make a woolen mill look cheap—

No sir; there never was or will be just such a thing as washing sheep.

That washer stands waist-deep in drink, His frock is torn, his hat is gone; He cannot see or speak or think

But squeals and sobe and washes on; He grabs a husky wether's horns, And as that wether gives a leap, It's hard to tell for half a minute

Jes' which is man and which is sheep.

The day's work's helper throws 'em in, And has to lift each lobster twice; He rolls his eyes, unrolls his cluin, And strives to be a human vine.

He's on his back full half the time, And blacker than a chimney sweep— There's nothing like it, now or never. There's nothing jest like washing sheep.

The getting-back-to-pasture part— Is really worst of all; O Lord; We pile the "greatest" on the cart

Until we had about a cord; And when they all was back in feed, I'll tell you, but you mustn't peep.

Then sheep was dirtier than before— The nothing, sure, like washing sheep.

SCHWAB PRAISES THE SHIPBUILDERS

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.—Says

Charles M. Schwab:

"The rat-tat-tat of the German machine guns is being answered not only by our brave boys over there in company with their gallant allies. It is being answered over here in 137 shipyards by the rat-tat-tat of the riveting machines. And the reply is going to be very satisfactory from an American standpoint."

"How satisfactory in figures?" I shot at the steel king, who is director general of Uncle Sam's shipbuilding endeavors.

"I never make predictions," Schwab responded to my query. "I like only to let accomplished facts speak for themselves."

"We put 263,000 tons of ships in the water in May. Not launched merely, but actually in commission to do the work Uncle Sam wants them to do. That means more than an average of 10,000 tons for every working day."

"The ships actually average about 6000 tons."

"Does that represent the maximum we will accomplish per month? Again, nothing doing on the prediction staff. It simply gives a measure of what we hope to do."

"We have already broken some world's records at the time it took to build the Truckee and the South Pole. And I know the men in the shipyards are full of zest for more such records."

"This job is intensely interesting. My part in it is two-fold:

"First—To direct and arouse a spirit of enthusiasm among the men which makes for successful accomplishment."

"Second—To see that every ounce of material needed for the shipyards is procured, whether it be steel plates, engines, boilers or what not."

"As to the first: I think the men in the shipyards already have the enthusiasm for the job in hand. There is generous rivalry and emulation everywhere, which makes for large establishment. That is what is meant by my slogan: 'Enthusiasm and competition.'"

"As to the second—we are getting the materials as we need them, and I hope this will continue!"

"I see it stated Secretary Daniels yielded to your insistent demand for the output of one of the big turbine factories," I interjected.

"I am glad you brought that up," Schwab replied earnestly. "People are always talking as if there were friction between Mr. Daniels and me."

"There is not a word of truth in it. Mr. Daniels has been fine, just fine. He has been helpful in every possible way. He has been a very good friend for years."

"We never had a difference save over business matters, and then only in a more or less jocose manner."

"But I don't want to talk about myself. I would rather talk about the men in the yards."

"I want the shipyard workers to hold their heads high when they go out with their wives or sweethearts. We won't give them a uniform, but we intend to give each man a white hat and a white service pin. He for four months, and every two months' additional service. He should be as proud to wear it as the soldier who displays his service badge, and he should have the firm feeling that he has done as much for his country."

"For, by golly, he has!"

TO DEVELOP NEW FISHING GROUNDS

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 24.—

Steamers preparing to leave this port for the annual trip to the northern seas will make a special survey this summer of the extent and variety of fish in the Arctic regions, with a view to developing new fishing grounds. The Newfoundland fishing flotilla does not usually proceed beyond the entrance to Hudson Bay strait, but regular trips will be made to the far north if the venture appears feasible.

VISITS YANKEE TROOPS

Clemenceau Admires Men

—Confers With Foch and

Pershing

PARIS, June 24.—Premier Clemenceau passed the day at American headquarters. He was accompanied by Capt. Andre Tardieu, the French high commissioner to the United States, and recently appointed head of the new department for Franco-American cooperation in the war. They lunched with Gen. Pershing and afterward inspected the American troops.

An important military conference was held during the afternoon. Among those present were M. Clemenceau, Gen. Pershing, Gen. Foch, who came especially for the occasion; Capt. Tardieu, Maj. Gen. Macdowell and Gen. Mordacq and Wegmann.

Questions concerning Franco-American co-operation were discussed and the measures to be taken within the next few months in concert were talked over. Complete agreement was reached on all points.

The troops quartered where the inspection was held belong to a division which landed less than a week ago. They were presented to M. Clemenceau by Gen. Pershing and Maj. Gen. Macdowell.

The magnificent bearing of the men and their perfect training strongly impressed the premier, who chatted with them and realized for himself their desire to get into the line as early as possible and their determination to win.

Gen. Pershing hastily gathered the officers of the regiment in the cantonment when Premier Clemenceau arrived. The premier spoke a few words to the officers, expressive of the great confidence of France in the men from overseas and of thanks for the aid they were receiving from America at the decisive hour of the struggle for the liberty of the world.

The premier then spoke to the villagers who had assembled when the news of his presence became known and mingled with the American soldiers who crowded round him.

The premier explained to the people what America was doing in order to bring its greatest strength to the aid of the allies with the maximum of rapidity. The mayor of the village made a brief speech in reply.

"All right," he said, "we can wait as long as is necessary, for we have confidence."

AMSTERDAM, June 24.—Emperor Charles, says a Vienna despatch, has reserved his decision regarding the resignation of the Austrian cabinet. In the meantime, he entrusts Premier von Seydler with the further direction of affairs.

Emperor Charles, Vienna despatch to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin says, undoubtedly will refuse to accept the resignation of the von Seydler cabinet, which will remain as constituted except probably for the Polish minister, Herr von Twardowski, who will retire.

A Vienna despatch to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin says that Baron Buri, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, took the position that he was unable to make a declaration against the cession of East Galicia as the Poles demanded, because it was a purely internal affair. Premier von Seydler was ready to declare that the partition of Galicia should come only by constitutional methods, namely, a two-thirds majority in the reichsrath.

The Poles, however, demanded an express declaration that partition was out of the question and also demanded a binding promise from the German parties regarding an Austro-Polish solution.

Although he has done what has been possible there is only sufficient corn for half a bread ration in Austria, declares Food Minister Paul in an interview with the Vienna correspondent of the Lokal Anzeiger. The food department is attempting to make up this deficiency with other foodstuffs, and in addition, to 250 grammes of beef, two pounds of horse flesh per person will be distributed weekly.

Military mobile kitchens will be used to supply 100,000 persons daily for four weeks with a warm meal consisting of soup, 100 grammes of meat and vegetables.

RETURN TO WORK

OR BE INTERNED

EASTHAMPTON, June 24.—The 400 striking Austrian Polish weavers of the West Boylston Manufacturing Co., who were warned Friday by Agent Fred Weyand of the department of justice that they would be interned as enemy aliens if they persisted in remaining idle after today, failed, except in a few instances, to return to work today, standing by their vote of Saturday to remain on strike. Word to this effect has been sent to Agent Weyand, who is expected to return here at once. Weyand last week caused the arrest of the ringleader of the strikers, who was sent to Camp Devens.

BOSTON, June 24.—The death of Joseph Platek, a member of the United States army for 12 years, who jumped last week from a balcony at the Cambridge jail, where he had been held awaiting internment as an enemy alien was reported to the federal authorities today. Platek, an Austrian, had declared, officers said, that he preferred death to internment. He had a good record in the army. Orders for his internment were in line with the policy of officials to weed out all enemy aliens who had not taken out citizenship papers.

MOTORMEN TO THROW

THE SWITCH LIGHTS

In order to enable conductors on pay-as-you-go cars of the Bay State Street Railway to devote all their time to the wants of passengers, a new rule has gone into effect on the road which provides that motormen get off their cars when switch lights are to be thrown at a turnout. Formerly the conductor had this job, but the inauguration of the new plan of paying fares has caused the change and now the motorman has a new duty added to his repertoire. The rule is in effect on all lines where there are hand switch lights.

45,000 Austrians Captured

course was changed. In the first rush

the Austrian offensive, the enemy succeeded in crossing the old river bed, which is now a canal. From his positions there he has been driven and the Italians are relentlessly pressing the pursuit.

Italians Cross Main Stream

The latest news despatches sent out tell of Italian bridge units being thrown across the main stream of the Piave, which seems to indicate that the Austrian retreat was not stayed at the eastern bank. There is every indication that the Austrian "hunger offensive" has been a forlorn hope for several days.

No New Attack in Mountains

There has been no further reports foreshadowing a new attack in the mountain sectors of the Italian front.

Thrilled by their signal victory in the reaches of their battle front, the Italians and allied troops fighting in that theatre of the war may be expected to meet any move with the stubborn resistance which so far has nullified the efforts of the Austrian emperor to carry the war into the plains of Italy and still the murmurs of his soldiers with the loot from captured cities.

Italian Victory Over Germans

Coincident with the Italian victory on the Piave comes the news of the Italian units on the Marne-Rheims sector repulsing a second heavy German attack on the heights of Eligny, just to the west of Rheims. The German failure was complete, was the original blow on Saturday night.

French Beat Off Germans

A German attack on the French at Antheuil, west of the Oise, was beaten off Sunday night. British troops have taken 1000 prisoners and inflicted casualties in local operations along their sectors of the front in France.

Vienna Prepares People for Bad News

Whether the several enemy divisions on the western bank of the Piave will be able to escape capture or destruction in attempting to get across the river to the opposite bank will be the most interesting development in the next few hours. "The river is swollen and Vienna, in its latest communication, seems to be preparing the way for unwelcome

news. It dilates at length on the burden placed on the troops by heavy rain and the torrential Piave. Most of the Austrian bridges are gone and Italian heavy artillery still within range at points where the Austrians crossed and near the river bank where the Italian line has held fast.

Previous to the beginning of the enemy retreat there had been little infantry fighting along the Piave for 18 days. The Italians had occupied the time in cutting the enemy lines and communications heavily. In the mountains the situation is unchanged, although the allied artillery has been very active in some sectors.

Austrian Reports False

Austrian official claims of the capture of 40,000 prisoners and of great allied air losses are declared to be falsifications in a semi-official note issued in Rome. It is asserted that the Italian losses in killed, wounded and missing aggregate 40,000. Austrian losses are placed at 150,000 by Italian newspapers.

Civil Unrest in Austria

Civil unrest in Austria-Hungary is still rampant, and there has been little alleviation of food conditions.

Failure of the Austrian offensive will have an appreciable effect on the situation. The Austrian cabinet has presented a collective resignation to the emperor.

REPORT FROM ITALY IS

HAILED WITH ENTHUSIASM

LONDON, June 24.—The taction bulleth from General Diaz announcing that the defeated Austrians are retreated in disorder, with the Italians in pursuit in the heart of the mountains, has been received in allied countries in many months.

The statement of the Italian command-in-chief is hailed with enthusiasm by the morning newspapers.

LARGEST WOODEN

SHIP EVER BUILT

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The largest wooden ship ever built is soon to be turned out in quantity by the shipping board. It will be a new model

5000 ton standard type, adapted from the 4700 ton boat now being built.

Numerous changes in the design have been made by naval architects to avoid troubles encountered in previous types, especially the use of timbers so large that they cannot be obtained anywhere except in the giant forests of the Pacific coast. All timbers needed for the new ships will be available in the pine forests of the south.

ITALIANS CROSS OLD

CHANNEL OF PIAVE

ROME, Sunday, June 23. (By the Associated Press.)—Italian troops have crossed the old channel of the Piave river, west of the main stream, and re-captured several of their old positions there, according to a semi-official announcement tonight. From Capo

Silla, other detachments are advancing towards the main stream of the river.

The Italians have thrown numerous bombing detachments across the main stream where the artillery and aircraft are hammering the enemy.

weak. There were fractional gains

Activity slackened toward noon, but trading assumed wider proportion embracing additional industrials and equipment, coppers and related metals, also minor war issues and speculations. Aside from Reading, Investment continued to hold back. Royal

Dutch Oil, at a further decline, responded to moderate reactions in Brooklyn Transit and American Tel-sustained strength of the general list.

still in the early afternoon. Prices were variable but the strength of steels more than offset the further heaviness of utilities, and a reaction of 1/2 points in Marine preferred.

Steels, coppers, tobacco and oils made their best quotations in the lat-

Graduates of St. Patrick's and St. Michael's parochial schools were awarded their diplomas yesterday and other pupils received certificates of promotion. At St. Patrick's the graduation exercises were held in connection with the high mass at 11 o'clock, while at St. Michael's the exercises were at three in the afternoon.

Four recently ordained priests celebrated their first masses in Greater Lowell yesterday. At St. Peter's church Rev. Edward P. Shea celebrated his first mass at 11 o'clock; Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., celebrated his first local mass at the Immaculate Conception church at the same hour; Rev. Frank J. Riley, S. J., another Lowell boy, was the celebrant of the high mass at St. Patrick's church, and Rev. T. Francis Curry, O.M.I., celebrated his first mass at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, at 10.30.

city, a former altar boy at St. Patrick's church, celebrated his first mass in this city at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. It was a solemn high mass and the celebrant was assisted by Rev. Joseph A. Curran as deacon and Rev. Fr. Chmery, S.J., of Boston as sub-deacon. The sanctuary choir under the direction of Rev. Bro. Nilus, C.F.X., sang O'Shea's harmonized mass and at the offertory Andrew McCarthy sang Millard's "Jura-vit." Graduates of the boys' and girls' parochial schools of the parish were seated in the center aisle and prior to the sermon they were awarded their diplomas. Rev. Bro. Osmond, C.F.X., superior of the school, read the names of graduates and Right Rev. William O'Brien, P.M., pastor of the church, presented the diplomas. Rev. Fr. Curran, S. J., delivered the sermon to the graduates and his address was an eloquent demonstration of the advantages and opportunities of a Catholic education. He also congratulated the teachers of the school and Rev. Fr. Riley, S. J., at the close of the mass the latter gave his blessing to several hundreds of graduates who were as follows: James Edward Barrett, Melvin Joseph Cheney, Frederick Edward Conway, Joseph Patrick Manning, John Joseph McLaughlin, Leo Francis Miskell, John Francis Nelligan, Raymond Columbus O'Brien, Edward Joseph O'Connor, Martin Joseph Pendergast, James Joseph Reidy, Leon Jackson Regan, Edward Herbert Ryan, James Paul Scully, James Arthur Sullivan, John Joseph Ward, Daniel Andrew Whalen.

The following pupils of the grammar department of the boys' school received certificates: Joseph Callahan, Joseph Brady, Walter King, Edward Garrigan, Benjamin Murray, Edward O'Connor, Edward Murphy, George Ashe, Edward McDermott, William Burns, Francis Breen, William Manahan, John O'Brien, Leo Dineen, Paul Nerney, William Boyle, Gilbert Hunt, Jeremiah Hanley, William Kenney, John Cavanaugh, Thomas Lenihan, William Regan, Paul O'Neill, Robert Desmond, Thomas Stack, Thomas Quinn, Timothy Stapleton, Raymond Connolly, Patrick Lynch, Bernard Keon, Cornelius Sullivan, Francis McMahon.

Diplomas were awarded to the following girls in grammar department: Misses Catherine Maher, Catherine Asha, Catherine Burt, Gladys Cronan, Alice Crowley, Esther Desmarais, Mildred Dwyer, Elizabeth Glancy, Julia Kealy, Mary Kenney, Veraconda Lawler, Mary LeBlanc, Helen Mahoney, Mary Mahoney, Mary Manning, Anastasia Mealy, Aline Morin, Edna Monaghan, Irene Monaghan, Helen O'Garra, Catherine O'Neill, Edith Powers, Helen Regan, Lillian Regan, Amelia Rourke, Gertrude Scanlan, Catherine Seward, Alice Sullivan, Mabel Toohy, Mary Wrenn.

Rev. Henry M. Tattan sang the high mass at St. Michael's church yesterday and Rev. Francis Mullin was the celebrant. Rev. John J. Shaw, the pastor, celebrated the 8 o'clock mass. The annual graduation exercises of the parochial school will be held Tuesday afternoon. Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the following graduates received their diplomas:

Thomas Dolan, Edward Sherry, Edward Giblin, Francis White, Richard Blinmore, Henry Heaps, Dennis Scanlon, Alfred Kelley, John Dorsey, Harold Dumont, George Brennan, Walter Nugent, Leo Reardon, Paul Shore, Martin Murray, Edward Cullinan, Rose Elita Conlon, Elizabeth Sullivan, Adelaide Williamson, Irene Burns, Mary Dorsey, Mary Elita Burke, Mary Conway, Agnes Kelley, Florence Tully, Julie Manning, Kathleen Farrington, Josephine Walsh, Genevieve Fralick, Catherine Montgomery, Olive Kelley, Dorothea Johnson, Mary McCormick, Mary King, Gertrude Burke, Eleanor McPadden, Marie Carv, Anna Carroll, Alice Dawson, Catherine Crogan, Lillian Moran, Catherine Holmes, Mary Grace Dawson, Helen Flanagan, Agnes Neupont, Helene Edwards and Elsie Hibbard. The award was made by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, and at the close benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held.

Rev. James B. McCarthy, O.M.I., celebrated his first solemn high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday. He was assisted by Rev. James J. McCarthy, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. Owen P. PIANO RECITAL YESTERDAY BY GROUP OF PUPILS OF ST.
JOSEPH'S CONVENT

A delightful piano recital was given at the C.M.A.C. hall in Pawtucket street yesterday afternoon by a group of pupils of St. Joseph's convent. The affair, which proved very enjoyable for the many parents and friends of the young girls, who were present, was given under the direction of the superior of the convent, Sister Joseph Alfred, teacher of pianoforte at the school.

In the course of the afternoon a gold medal, donated by the convent and merited by Misses C. Malo, C. Denault and I. Groulx, was won by Miss Denault. Another medal merited by Misses A. Chaput, Lea Archambault and H. Constantineau, was won by Miss Archambault. L. N. Guilbault donated a prize to be awarded the pupil for the best played piece during the recital, and this was won by Miss Melville Labrecque. Between the various numbers Hibbard's orchestra furnished music.

KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Auto Hit Team on Mammoth Road—One Man Killed and Another Seriously Injured

As a result of an automobile accident in Mammoth road Saturday night, one man died, another was seriously injured, a horse was injured to such an extent that it had to be shot, while a buggy and an automobile were badly damaged. Victor Larivie, aged 32 years, of 50 Mulberry street, Nashua, N. H., was the man killed, and James Hall, also of Nashua, sustained injuries about the head and is now confined to the Lowell Corporation hospital.

The accident occurred shortly after 11 o'clock at a point on Mammoth road known as the "Hill." The automobile, a light Ford truck, owned by the Cudahy Packing Co. of Nashua, driven by Larivie, and containing three other men, crashed into a buggy owned and driven by John Gondek of 3 Toman road. In the car with Mr. Gondek were his wife and son and daughter. The people riding in the buggy were thrown out, but fortunately escaped with a few scratches. Two of the young men in the automobile escaped without injury, but Larivie and Hall were badly injured and both were removed in haste to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where Larivie passed away shortly after his arrival.

After the accident the horse was found to be in a pitiable condition with his right forward shoulder crushed and his left shoulder badly torn. Agent Richardson was called and he ended the animal's misery with a bullet. The buggy and the automobile were badly damaged. Larivie's body was taken to the funeral parlors of Undertakers Amedee Archambault & Sons and later it was removed to Nashua.
